Quebec Decides

Barrette To Follow Sauve Line

ANTONIO BARRETTE
. . . broke with Duplessis

QUEBEC (CP) — Labor Minister Antonio Barrette, who once earned a few cents a day as a messenger boy, Thursday was named premier-designate of Quebec. (See also page 2.)

He will be sworn in with members of his cabinet this morning.

OTTAWA PLEASED

Federal government circles Thursday welcomed the choice of Barrette.

Government sources said Mr. Barrette is expected to follow the conciliatory approach of the late Premier Paul Sauve.

As well, he is known as a strong political supporter of the federal Progressive Conservative Party. He has campaigned for the Conservatives in Quebec province during federal elections.

PARTY FOUNDER

Mr. Barrette, 60, a tall blue-eyed man was, with the late Premier Duplessis, one of the founding members of the Union Nationale Party.

At a press conference yesterday he said he would first deal with the question of federal aid to universities — a matter which is about settled as a result of the spade work done by Mr. Sauve—and continue in the path set out by his predecessor in the complex field of federal-provincial relations.

TOP NEGOTIATOR

Political observers said that Mr. Barrette, who has a reputation as a gentleman and a top-notch labor mediator, would combine unique qualities in dealing with federal authorities on the main issues which still separate Quebec's views from those of the other provinces in Canada.

FINE LIBRARY

Self-educated and well read — he has a remarkable personal library at his home in Joliette, 40 miles northeast of Montreal—Mr. Barrette speaks impeccable French and his English is described as "good."

He is well known in Ottawa. Prime Minister Diefenbaker has been at his home. Mr. Barrette himself has campaigned actively for the federal Progressive Conservatives.

TWIN SUPPORT

It was obvious to veteran observers the party has chosen a man who, because of his 15 years in the Union Nationale cabinet, would rally warm support from old-line elements. On the other hand his progressive outlook on social legislation and in labor matters would win over the young factions in the party.

1957 BREAK

Mr. Barrette broke with the late Mr. Duplessis in 1957 over labor policy matters.

This was the year the workers of Gaspe Copper Mines Limited, at Murdochville went on strike and workers at the huge Aluminum of Canada works at Arvida had walked out.

POLICE INTERVENED

Mr. Barrette had personally mediated a settlement at Arvida but he had not been able to touch the Murdochville conflict apparently because Mr. Duplessis, as attorney-general, had sent a detachment of provincial police there.

Stamp Fund Milked For Fortune

NEW YORK (AP)—A mail clerk for a Wall Street brokerage firm, whose pay was $62 a week, was accused yesterday of stealing nearly $500,000 from his employer—through the stamp fund.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Charles A. Willis scheme worked this way:

Willis had charge of taking postage meters of his firm, White, Weld and Company, to the post office to have them pre-set for desired amounts of postage.

Willis would for example draw a $1,000 cheque on the firm, made out to the postmaster. But when he got to the post office he would have the machine set for $500 worth of postage and take the remaining $500 in regular stamps.

Later he sold the stamps at a 10-per-cent discount in the financial district.

Toronto Buys 50 Buses All Too Long

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Transit Commission has purchased 50 buses for $1,600,000 but found Wednesday it can't operate them because they are 40 feet long. The city and 12 suburbs prohibit buses over 35 feet.

Hollywood Plan

Vancouver Police For TV Thriller?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police commissioners here still are opposed to a United States television series based on Vancouver city police but they are going to meet a Hollywood producer to discuss the matter.

Commissioner D. M. Clark said some television police shows are "shocking." Commissioner J. D. Maitland said he would agree to the proposal "if it would serve any useful purpose."

Chief Needs More Men

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police Chief George Archer said Wednesday more policemen are needed to curb an increasing crime rate in murder, sex crimes and armed robberies.

Billions Surplus In U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower dramatically disclosed yesterday that his new budget will provide for a $4,200,000,000 surplus in the next fiscal year. Congressional leaders promptly geared to fight demands for tax cuts.

Surprising all but a handful of federal officials, the President told Congress in his State of the Union message (See Page 3) that the budget will call for government spending of $79,800,000,000 and income of $84,000,000,000 in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Too good to be true, said Democrats of the forecast.

U.S. Doubles Space Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower said the United States will almost double its spending on space efforts in fiscal 1961.

He reported that the Atlas, the nation's only combat-ready intercontinental missile, has exceeded accuracy expectations by averaging hits within two miles of its target at distances of more than 5,000 miles.

'Hags' Up in Arms

Sir Ian Runs

SIR IAN JACOBS
. . . in hiding

LONDON (AP) — The furtive gentleman is a retired lieutenant-general, splendid war record, afraid of nothing that comes in trousers.

He is Sir Ian Jacob, who gave up his job last week as director-general of the BBC.

He is furtive because in an unguarded moment of a farewell radio broadcast he said he believed the BBC was somewhat hag-ridden.

The reaction among the corporation's women employees was explosive. The general sensed immediately that he had stirred up something which couldn't be settled by summoning a few regiments from the reserve. So he retreated to his home in Suffolk.

Some of the girls consulted a dictionary and established that anyone being harassed by a hag is "being ridden by a malicious female sprite, an evil spirit, a demon or infernal being in female form."

FROSTY TONES

To ascertain whether the government-run TV-radio service is top-heavy with women, a telephone call was made to the BBC public relations department.

The department, it appeared, is manned largely by women. A lady explained in a frosty voice:

"The corporation employs 9,199 men and 6,273 hags."

Sir Ian was accepting telephone calls from men, and to one male caller he said:

LITTLE JOKE

"It was a little joke, a little idea put into my head by a light-hearted remark by my secretary. She reported that a number of women were waiting to consult me, and said with a sweet smile that I was being hag-ridden."

The argument may rage a little longer. But Sir Ian is out of it, secure in a safe redoubt. At 60 he is joining the board of a fertilizer firm—a masculine enterprise.

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV

POPE JOHN

Lively Speculation

Will Pope Be 'Out' If Nikita Calls?

ROME (AP) — Amid lively speculation that Soviet Premier Khrushchev might visit Rome soon, the Roman Catholic Church yesterday hinted there is little chance that the leader of world Communism may have a meeting with Pope John.

Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, secretary of the Vatican's Supreme Congregation of the Holy Office, of which the Pope himself is a prefect, strongly hinted yesterday what the church's attitude would be.

In an address at a mass offered for the "church of silence" in Communist-dominated countries, he recalled that the late Pope Pius XI left the Vatican in 1937 and went to his summer home at Castel Gandolfo to avoid meeting Hitler.

The cardinal did not mention the Soviet leader, but the implication seemed clear that Pope John might take similar steps to avoid meeting Khrushchev.

Jews, Christians Urge:

Purge Tainted Nazis

BONN (AP) — Jewish leaders joined forces with a Church of England group and the mayor of West Berlin Thursday in demanding that all persons tainted with Nazism be thrown out of high places in West Germany. (See also Page 3.)

The Bild Zeitung, a Hamburg tabloid whose 3,000,000 circulation is the biggest in West Germany, published a front-page article bordered in black and red about an elderly Jew who had come into the office and said: "I'm afraid again."

The World Jewish Congress submitted to the foreign office here a 12-point memorandum demanding a purge of anyone tainted with Nazism.

The Church of England newspaper, which is unofficial but represents the views of many Anglican clergymen, wrote that no efforts by Bonn to stamp out anti-Semitism would reassure the world unless the government "is prepared to dismiss from its own ranks those who are known to have been active supporters of the Hitler regime."

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, a Socialist, told the city parliament there are many former followers of Hitler "in the high levels of the administration, justice, education and among the so-called voices of public opinion" in West Germany.

Even in the high schools it is largely up to the teachers as to whether the evils of the Nazi era are taught.

New Pact May Give Japan Veto Over U.S. Troop Use

TOKYO (UPI) — The new American-Japanese security treaty may give Japan veto power over use of U.S. combat troops or nuclear weapons here, informed Japanese sources said yesterday.

Floe Crumbles Under Scientists

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Evacuation was ordered yesterday of 29 civilian and military scientists after the small drifting Arctic ice floe where they were stationed began to crumble.

One plane was sent to the floe, about 400 miles northwest of Barrow, Alaska, to bring out the first group.

A Ladd air force base spokesman here said the camp, known as "Station Charley," is in no immediate danger.

Three University of Washington men from Seattle were reported on the floe. They were Dr. Kenneth Bennington, head of the scientific group, Dr. Daniel Hale and Donald Makela.

Maj. Phillip Peacock, public information officer for the 11th Air Division, said the men will be removed a few at a time over a period of a week.

The 13 military and 16 civilian scientists manning the station have been collecting meteorological and technical information on the Arctic.

Dr. Phil Church, executive director of the university's department of geology and meteorology, said at Seattle the floe is not nearly as thick as ice "islands" in the Arctic and was in danger constantly of breaking up.

Winter Slows B.C. Logging

VANCOUVER — Ice and snow conditions have forced a halt in 40 per cent of the logging and sawmill operations in the British Columbia coastal area.

Company officials said Wednesday 7,000 of the 12,000 men usually working in the woods at this ttime of the year have been laid off.

Steel Deal Charged To Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic national chairman Paul M. Butler charged Thursday that Vice-President Richard M. Nixon won a secret agreement from the steel companies to hold off any price increases until after the 1960 presidential election.

If Nixon is elected president, Butler said, "the sky's the limit" for any price increases.

He quoted from the Wall Street Journal's Tuesday edition to bear out his charge of a secret deal.

Fires Gobble $14,465,235

OTTAWA (CP) — Forest fires in Canada gobbled up an estimated $14,465,235 of wealth in 1958. It was the worst fire year on record.

A summary of losses was released Thursday by the department of northern affairs and national resources.

Atom Test Petitions 'Pathetic'

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—Maj.-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, former adjutant-general of the Canadian Army, said Wednesday it was "pathetic to see large numbers of professors and students of leading Canadian universities signing petitions to plead the banning of nuclear tests and nuclear bombs.

"For none of these people seem willing to face the unpalatable fact that if we are to abolish the nuclear weapon we have got to substitute manpower for nuclear power in our defence strategy."

TORONTO (CP) — The nuclear disarmament committee at the University of Toronto said Wednesday night it regrets the federal government's decision to acquire nuclear weapons for RCAF jets in Europe.

Several Rockets Probable

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia said Thursday night it will test a powerful new rocket, built to reach other planets, over the central Pacific within a few weeks. Officials asked that ships and planes keep out of the area where it will fall.

The rocket is expected to land in a target area roughly 1,000 miles east of the Marshall Islands U.S. nuclear testing grounds.

The Russians did not say how many rockets would be fired, but indicated there will be more than one.

SATELLITE

The rockets will be launched without their final stage—the stage that would become either a satellite or a spaceship reaching another planet.

Tass, official news agency, in a statement said the tests were for the purpose of developing "a more powerful rocket to launch heavy earth satellites and undertake space flights to planets of the solar system."

HIGH ACCURACY

"With a view to perfecting this rocket with a high accuracy of flight, its launchings without the last stage will be made within the coming months of 1960 into the central part of the Pacific Ocean, removed from places of intensive shipping, airlines and fisheries," the statement said.

The announcement said ships of the Soviet fleet will be sent to the target area to carry out necessary measurements, and the first launchings would be between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15. It added:

DON'T ENTER

"To ensure the safety of navigation and air traffic during the launchings of rockets into the central Pacific, Tass is authorized to announce that the government of the Soviet Union asks the governments of the nations whose ships or aircraft may find themselves during this period in the vicinity of the area where the rockets might fall to see that the authorities concerned instruct the ship masters and aircraft captains to refrain from entering the aquatorium area and airspace of the Pacific designated."

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The navy said last night that the missile impact area being reserved by Russia for space rocket tests comprises about 45,000 square miles in the south Pacific.

The navy said location of the impact area indicated the Russians planned to launch their rockets in Siberia.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Today a man came to me with an alarming idea.

"You know when your wife's busy, and you have to iron your own shirt . . ." he began.

"I don't iron my own shirts," I told him. "As far as I can tell, nobody irons them. All my shirts seem to be made of plastic now. The only thing they're good for is travelling. I wash them in a hotel hand-basin, hang them above the basin on a bent coat-hanger overnight, and let them drip dry.

"They seem to come out ironed, but they get a wilted look after a while."

"Yes, but if you did iron them," he persisted, "why not follow my method?"

"What is your method?"

I only iron the parts that show—the collar and the sleeves. Why waste time ironing all that shirt that stays hidden?"

"Why bother having a bath?" I demanded in return.

"Why wash your chest and shoulderblades? Why not just wash your face, neck, hands and maybe a couple of inches above your socks, in case your pant leg creeps up?"

"That's different," argued my adviser. "Washing your skin is sanitation. But what good does it do to iron your shirt all over, chest, back and sides? Who sees it? Who knows that you've ironed it? You don't often remove your coat."

"I would know I'd ironed it," I assured him smugly. "Look, this is imaginary, but you brought it up. I'm trying to do an important interview. Important to me. I'm talking to one of those cold subjects who give you a level, fishy stare.

"All the time I talk, I know that I'm acting a lie. I'm representing myself as a man wearing an ironed shirt. But in my mind, I know it's all on the surface. I'm not deep-down ironed. That makes me feel guilty, and I show it. The person I am interviewing picks up signals of weakness, and reacts with contemptuous silence. The interview is a failure."

"You're making too big a thing of this," said my informant wearily. "All I suggested was a short-cut to save labor when you iron your shirt."

"That's what wrong with our society," I said. "Too many people going around with smooth collars and hidden wrinkled fronts. Too much dirt swept under the rug. Too many things pretending to be what they're not—vacuum cleaners with "lifetime guarantees' that fall apart in seven years. Whose lifetime, anyway? Wallpaper that looks like wood. Wood that looks like wallpaper. Plastic parsley.

"And now," I added, "you want me to add to this vast sum of deceit by ironing my collar and leaving my chest creased."

"You talk pretty wild, for a man who doesn't iron his shirt at all," my informant reminded me.

"Gosh, you're right," I admitted. "I'll have to think about that."

Self-Made Man To Rule Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — Antonio Barrette, Quebec's new premier-designate and leader of the powerful Union Nationale Party, quit school at 14 to take a five-cent-an-hour job as a railway messenger.

Today, at 60, he is to take a $16,000-a-year job as premier of Quebec.

"I was a real bronco," he once recalled in reminiscing about his youth. "I had no use for schooling when I was 14 years old. But soon the urge to learn overpowered me and I became as stubborn about education as I had been about getting the nickel-an-hour job."

Through books he became largely self-taught, following courses in such things as sociology, philosophy, economics, mechanical engineering and political science.

Today 5,000 books line the library of his 10-room brick house in his native Joliette, 50 miles north of Montreal.

Young Antonio worked for a year and a half as a Canadian National Railways messenger.

"I remember that by working 12 hours a day, plus some overtime, plus Sundays of course, I earned as high as $22.15 a month."

MACHINIST

In 1915 he became an apprentice machinist in the CNR shops.

He stayed with CNR for 20 years and then became an insurance broker.

At 18 he became interested in politics and campaigned on behalf of the Conservatives in Joliette district. He spoke in favor of conscription in the riding during the First World War at a time when most of Quebec was bitterly opposed to conscription.

He won Joliette for the Union Nationale Party in 1936 and held it ever since.

In 1944 he was named labor minister in the Duplessis government and he has held that portfolio ever since.

Barrette 'Bronco' In Youth

* * *

For the last two years of the Duplessis regime, Mr. Barrette slipped into semi-retirement as far as politics were concerned. He attended few cabinet meetings and stayed away from legislature sittings except on rare occasions. The official reason was poor health.

Sources close to the government said it was because of disagreement with Mr. Duplessis' tough labor policies.

But when Permier Paul Sauve took over after the death of Mr. Duplessis last September, Mr. Barrette became one of the most active cabinet ministers. He was considered a confidant of the new premier. He sponsored sweeping changes to Quebec's labor legislation, reorganized his department and took an active part in legislature debates.

Public Utilities Takeover Urged in B.C. Labor Brief

The 120,000-member British Columbia Federation of Labor in a brief to the cabinet yesterday urged complete public ownership of public utilities, with emphasis on electrical power and natural gas.

The brief urged that the publicly-owned B.C. Power Commission take over all existing and future electrical power and natural gas developments.

The brief also urged:

That the new B.C. energy board plan development of the Peace River and an experienced conservationist and a labor representative should be added to the board;

"Gimmicks" in retail sales should be investigated;

Amendment of the Equalization of Assessments Act to exempt old age pensioner homeowners from its provisions;

A 30-per-cent increase in social assistance payments;

Free school for all, from kindergarten through college with construction of more vocational schools, especially in the B.C. Interior to assist native Indians;

Changes in forestry regulations to create more public working circles and less tree farm licence areas—with opening of private access road to the public;

A government car insurance scheme;

Exclusion of citizens from coroner's witness duties except for the actual time required to give evidence;

Assumption by the province of the full cost of arterial highway upkeep within city or municipal boundaries;

More camp and picnic sites and investigation of river pollution problems and more fish stocking;

A more equitable distribution of provincial electoral ridings — and an easing of limitations on the time in which a tenant-elector may register to vote;

A drive to obtain more skilled mental hospital workers through pay and working conditions improvements.

On matters of concern primarily to organized workers, the federation prefaced its proposals with an offer to take part in a broad conference of labor, management and government delegates "to examine all aspects of industrial relations."

PPCLI to Take Part

B.C. Army HQ To Test Mobility

The Victoria-based Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry will take part in national survival exercises next week which are designed to test the mobility of B.C. Area army headquarters.

Two crash boats of the Royal Canadian Air Force will transport senior staff from Vancouver to Nanaimo. An advance party will arrive in Nanaimo at 2.30 p.m. Tuesday, followed by a full staff, also by crash boat, at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The transfer of staff headquarters to Nanaimo will be the first time that headquarters, normally in a static role during manoeuvres, will move as well as the troops.

Seventy members of the PPCLI and 20 vehicles from Victoria will move into the Nanaimo area on Wednesday, embarking for Vancouver Thursday afternoon to carry out exercises at the army's Jericho base.

Monkey Bit His Finger And He Leaped Six Feet

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A policeman alleges that a pet monkey mistook his hand for a bunch of bananas and that it's worth $15,000.

Rolling T. Lewis has filed a damage suit for that amount against his neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Labrado, saying he was permanently disfigured and crippled when the monkey bit his little finger.

Lewis said he was so startled that he staggered out of the house and vaulted a six-foot fence.

Aid, Freedom, Surplus

Truth, Not Politics Eisenhower's Plea

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Eisenhower Thursday challenged Russia to use truth rather than political opportunism in efforts to reduce the world's arms race and prevent a nuclear disaster —"the ultimate insanity."

At the same time he called on the wealthier democracies to join in a gigantic free world effort to channel more aid and investment funds into India, Pakistan and other less fortunate countries.

"Free world decisions in this matter may spell the difference between world disaster and world progress in freedom," Eisenhower said in his State of the Union speech.

TENSIONS EASED

While warning of Russia's competition, Eisenhower observed that East-West tensions have eased.

Eisenhower charged the Russians were using political opportunism in negotiating with the West on a permanent nuclear weapons tests ban. He hoped new negotiations to open at Geneva next week will be conducted in a spirit of truth and not politics.

At home, he proposed increasing use of the conference table rather than legislation in attempts to maintain industrial labor peace.

NEW LEGISLATION

He will offer legislation in new attempts to reduce a huge wheat surplus, protect the voting rights of the American Negro and increase the present 4¼ per cent interest ceiling on long-term government bonds.

In his last year in office, Eisenhower also plans to show a surplus of some $200,000,000 in the government's 1960-61 fiscal year ending next June 30, and to plan for a balanced budget for 1961-62.

He indicated the defence budget of some $41,000,000,000 will remain unchanged.

SPACE SPENDING

Spending on space efforts, however, will be doubled to about $1,000,000,000 a year.

On missiles, Eisenhower announced the U.S. Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile is fully operational, capable of hitting a target the size of an airport 5,000 miles away.

"America possesses an enormous defence power," Eisenhower said. "It is my conviction no nation will ever risk general war against us unless we should be so foolish as to neglect the defence forces we now so powerfully support."

Eisenhower told Congress that income should exceed outgo in 1961-62 by $4,200,000,000.

B.C. Germans Hunt 'Nazis'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 10-man committee to combat anti-Semitism was formed here Thursday by the editor of a German-language newspaper.

Dr. D. W. Hoeter, editor of the weekly Der Nordwester, said the committee is made up of prominent members of Vancouver's German community.

He said it is unlikely anybody in the German community is involved, but its members feel duty bound to help police catch any offenders.

He gave no indication how the committee intends to help police.

The largest German association in the city, the 1,000-member Alpen Club, issued a statement saying the German community is shocked by the spread of the world-wide anti-Semitic outbreak to Vancouver.

The United Nations was asked yesterday to investigate the defacement of synagogues with Nazi swastikas and other incidents of racial intolerance.

The request for the inquiry was made by the International League for the Rights of Man in a letter to the subcommission on prevention of discrimination and protection of minorities.

West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt said yesterday that the recent wave of anti-Jewish vandalism is "hell's uproar" let loose.

In an impassioned speech before the city senate, he said Germans must never forget the crimes against Jews committed during the Hitler regime. He slashed out at the authors of the recent anti-Semitic acts.

He said West Berlin authorities would "crash down on them whenever possible."

In Bonn, meanwhile, the World Jewish Congress demanded a special police force to deal with anti-Semitism and resurgent Nazism in West Germany.

University Status

THE first physical step to give Victoria and Vancouver Island a university of Liberal Arts and Science with full degree-granting status begins today with the campaign to be launched by the board and faculty to raise $1,500,000 by public subscription, to make a total of $3,300,000 available for much-needed accommodation in the face of urgent student pressure. It has been agreed by those in charge of the drive that the appeal will be made in the name of Victoria University, though actual change of the name would require an enabling act. As Dr. W. H. Hickman, principal, has pointed out, Victoria University will retain its affiliation with the University of British Columbia.

The present appeal is based on the decision of the university to develop arts, science and education faculties on the Lansdowne campus, using its Gordon Head property for athletics and eventual future expansion. It was with this decision that the Colonist differed on grounds amply stated at the time. Unchanged in that, nonetheless we welcome this start at overcoming the immediate obstacles to development of a full degree-granting university in the capital city of the province.

Physically, the university's case can be put simply. Redoubled student enrolment is anticipated in the immediate future. Construction now of a science block, a library and a boiler house will enlarge existing capacity so that campus facilities can continue to handle incoming student rosters. The university believes that when $1,500,000 is raised by public subscription—together with $1,500,000 in a matching sum from the province, and $300,000 from the Canada Council—sufficient funds will be in hand to take care of the absolute requirements of the next few years. Under the plan this construction will be permanent, and will not be duplicated.

The raising of the considerable fund by public subscription is not so onerous as might appear at first glance. The university's drive is nation-wide. Industry is being counted on to do its fair part, due to its own direct interest in a trained graduate output. A cause such as this should appeal also to philantropists aware of the need of advanced education in these times. From the general public, however, is expected whatever portion of the sum is needed to put the whole scheme in operation.

Finally, we can agree with the long-term objective: the establishing in Victoria of a university second to none in Canada in its own sphere; one which will bring fruition one day to the long-cherished hopes and dreams of this century-old capital.

Strange Contrast

IN a somewhat unusual prosecution a Vancouver Island company and its proprietor are awaiting trial on charges of criminal negligence arising out of the death of a man who was electrocuted on their property. The case is mentioned here not for purposes of comment—which would be improper and unlawful at this stage—but because of the contrast it affords to official attitude towards fatalities of a different type where the element of negligence appears to be present but is dismissed without reference to the courts at all.

We refer to hunting fatalities in which persons are mistaken for game animals. From one side of Canada to the other these fatalities occur in shocking numbers every year. The customary pattern of proceedings is for an inquest to be held, at which a remorseful hunter tells of firing at something he "thought was a deer." A jury of laymen returns a verdict of "accidental" death, and there the matter ends.

Such a shooting is accidental only in the sense that it may not have been intentional. Nevertheless in many instances it constitutes manslaughter, the essential ingredient of which is neglect. The lesser charge more commonly used nowadays in instances of highway killings is criminal negligence, which may be anything from running through a stop light to excessive speed.

If a hunter kills a man, surely his failure positively to identify his target constitutes negligence comparable to that, say, of a driver who fails to do something which public safety requires. Mere innocence of intent to kill does not necessarily absolve either one from the consequences of neglect. It could be argued that the killing of a man while hunting is in itself sufficient evidence to warrant placing the hunter on trial so that the courts rather than the police shall decide as to guilt or innocence.

There is a tendency on this continent to regard with sympathy and compassion the hunter who kills someone, perhaps his best friend. Poor fellow, what mental anguish he has undergone: how cruel to add a criminal charge to his suffering. So long as that attitude prevails so long will the woods in the hunting season be as perilous as a battlefield. If prosecuting authorities ceased usurping the functions of judges and juries, and if it were made known that any hunter who killed another would almost certainly have to face a criminal charge, one can be sure that hunters generally would become a great deal more careful about what they shot at.

The Nazi Spirit

IF the anti-Jewish signs appearing in West Germany were not accompanied by swastika and "Heil Hitler" slogans the outburst might be put down to racial bias alone and the regrettable tendency to vent spite and spleen on the long-suffering Jewish peoples. Even the copy-cat anti-Semitism elsewhere, including our own country, might be dismissed as a temporary and passing aberration to which unfortunately some persons are prone. Those of malicious bent seize on any excuse to express their venom.

It is the swastika and the Hitler spirit that is disturbing and lends credence to the thought that some of the fascist element of Hitlerian days still persists. One had doubted in any case that it could disappear overnight just because the war ended with the Nazis defeated and dispersed, but there was hope that a new kind of Germany could arise. To some extent at least obviously the fascist creed still lingers and much will depend on the steps taken by the Bonn government to assure the West that it is inherent only in a minority degree.

West Germany is a mainspring of the NATO alliance found necessary in the postwar years to counter the growing threat of Soviet expansion. No one can forget however that German youth seem to find excitement and satisfaction in regimented military rule, or that it was Germany which precipitated the two world wars that ravaged the globe. The fascist spirit, with its pomp and pride and arrogance, seems to appeal to the German mind.

The current resurgence of the Hitler motif is therefore something that can be viewed only with concern. It may be a phase that will pass, representing only small groups which can be stamped out or kept under control. West Germany has recovered marvellously from wartime ruin. However, her armament resources are back in the same hands as before, there is a traditional fondness for military power to be reckoned with, and altogether she is not quite the hapniest ally to have in a world perched precariously between war and real peace. Nor can the Bonn regime fail to appreciate the apprehensions that this Nazi recrudescence causes among its present NATO associates.

Dachau Grim Reminder

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

ABOUT a half hour out of Munich, in rolling farm country which eventually gives way to the Alps, lies the pleasant little Bavarian town of Dachau.

Houses of yellow stucco nestle close together in the manner of German villages, and there is no hint of the horror that went on there 20 years ago. Some of the villagers claim that even at the time, they had no knowledge of the fact that thousands upon thousands of Jews were dying in the gas ovens of Dachau.

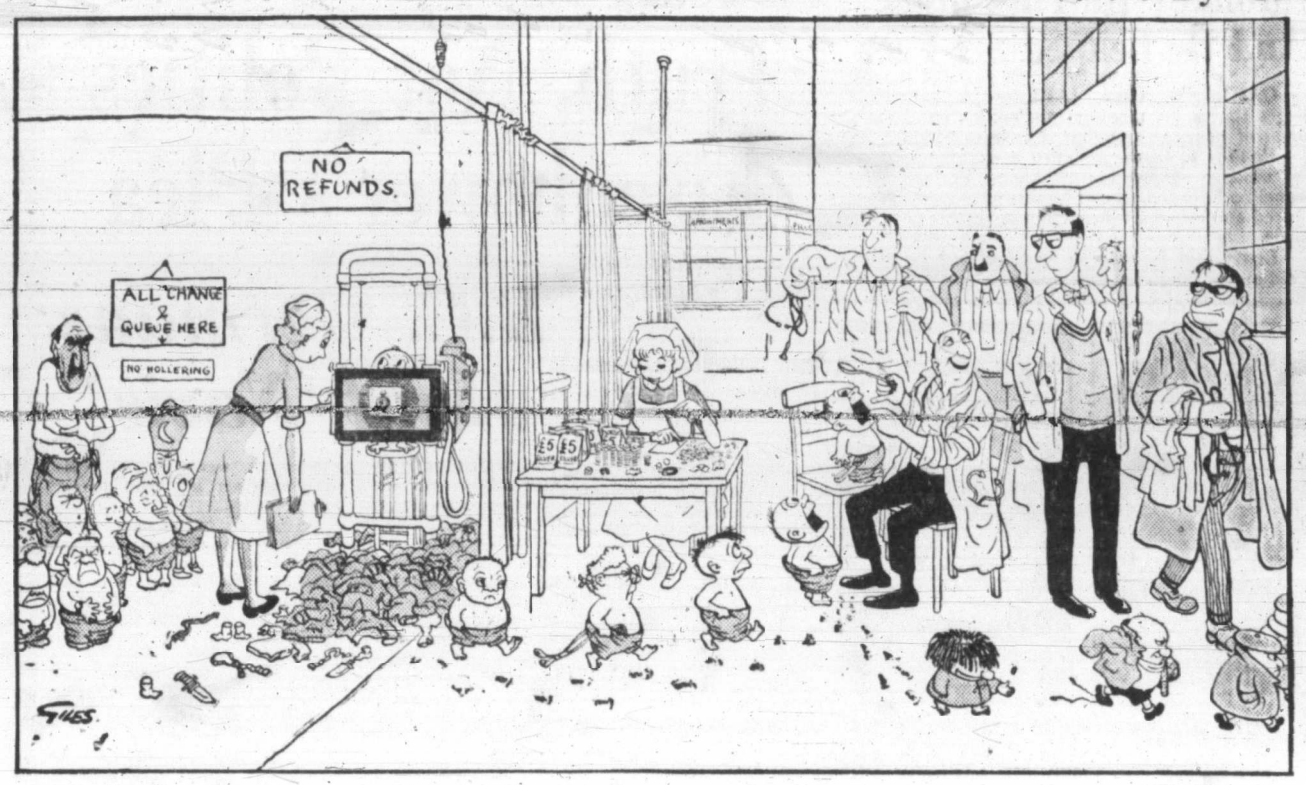

The gas chambers still stand as a horrible memento to Germans of the sins of Adolf Hitler, whose Nazi swastika emblem once more is appearing on synagogue walls, on Jewish shrines and on the homes of some of the 30,000 Jews remaining in West Germany.

Some six million Jews died at the hands of the Hitlerites before the Nazis finally were crushed by the Allies in 1945, and today in West Germany there are laws to insure that never again can anti-Semitism run rampant as it did under Hitler.

Anti-Semitism is a subject from which most Germans recoil, for of all the excesses of Hitlerism, that left perhaps the greatest stain.

But there has remained a hard core of anti-Semitism. German officials insist it does not represent by any means the majority feelings of West Germans, and is in fact probably no worse than in other nations which do not have a history of Nazism.

Christmas Aftermath . . . . . By Giles

By TOM TAYLOR

EVER since the Diaspora the Jewish race has suffered persecution, and the totality of misery imposed on it throughout the centuries has been enormous. The current anti-Semitism is therefore not unusual but it is as deplorable as ever it was. Strange also that it is among Western nations, presumed to have reached a degree of grace and civilization, that this persecution is to be found. Western civilization is a Christian civilization whose concepts of good and evil are founded on One who was himself a Jew, and the source of its inspiration derives from the history of the Jewish race. The perversion of mind which flowers in anti-Semitism is thus puzzling as well as abhorrent.

A truck-driver succumbing to the British epidemic of walking has marched 373 miles in a little over six days, which is phenomenal enough but becomes mysterious when it is revealed he was turned down as unfit for the army. At least it would be mysterious did one not know that some quite famous athletes have failed to pass A1 yet continued strenuous physical activity apparently without hindrance. Peacetime army tests, I suspect, seek the super-perfect specimens. It is when war comes that cripples are admitted; to perform surprisingly well in spite of flat feet, bunions and other peacetime defects.

One or two readers have telephoned or written asking where a copy of "Beautiful British Columbia"—mentioned in this space last Sunday—can be obtained. As far as I know the shelves of some bookstores in town still have copies awaiting a purchaser. During the Christmas season I saw the latest edition of this fine pictorial magazine, number two depicting Vancouver and Interior scenes—with mention of Nanaimo and Victoria—on sale in various stores.

* * *

Another reader asks if she can borrow "Wingate's Raiders," the story of guerrilla warfare in Burma discussed here the other day. Unfortunately I haven't a copy to lend, but suggest that she try the public library, which is sure to have this book on its shelves. I should suppose so anyway.

The coach of the New York Rangers says people should stop picking on the goalies, and so they should for he has five men in front of him and they must share the blame for any defeat. His fellow coaches are often the chief offenders in this respect, however. An astonishing practice of hockey coaches in fact is to belittle publicly their own players, which is the queerest form of morale-building I ever heard of. I shouldn't think it helps the box office either.

* * *

An aboriginal boy in Australia, poor lad, is reported to be dying in hospital because his tribal witch-doctor put a death curse on him. Doctors have cured the wounds he bore and there is nothing physically the matter with him but he is wasting away. The power of the mind over matter is thus reflected afresh. To be sure, the boy is illiterate and in bondage to tribal belief and so unable to shake off the mesmerism. Even the educated man of the West, however, evinces a similar superstition when he avoids walking under a ladder or refuses to be third man on a match. I suppose if authority seized the witch-doctor and forced him to free the boy from his spell that would simply entrench him in his tribal powers.

Letter from London

The Military Weren't Ready

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

JUST recently we have been having quite a spate of confessions from the people who used to wear the aura of greatness. We have had Lord Montgomery (the egocentric Monty) extolling the virtues of apartheid in South Africa, and Herbert Morrison—now Lord Morrison of Lambeth (bless his little coronet)—confessing that he would have done a Suez at Abadan if the military had only been ready. It only goes to prove that things were not what they seemed.

Lord Morrison was foreign secretary at the time of Abadan, and one presumes that the military machine should have been in working order because Lord Montgomery had left only a couple of years before as chief of the imperial general staff to become deputy boss of NATO in Paris. The fact, it would seem, is that the military machine is and was pathetically inadequate.

* * *

In retrospect one has to be sympathetic to Herbert Morrison. He had to endure taunts of "scuttle," "coward" and "gutless wonder" when it was his desire to prove in his own recent words "that the British are not always wrong." But this criticism allied with the Suez fiasco suggests that there is something radically wrong with the British war office.

On Suez, for example, Lord Morrison agreed that Sir Anthony Eden would have been justified in using force in August but that by November he had lost his real excuse and a great deal of public support. The presumption now revealed is that Sir Anthony would have acted in August but the military were not ready.

The then prime minister assumed that they were ready in November but in fact they were still unprepared to mount an attack in strength—and it was the initial delays which prevented Britain ramming home an advantage which would have ended Colonel Nasser's regime.

Britain is spending something like the equivalent of $4,000,000,000 on national defence and in the light of Lord Morrison's statement people are beginning to ask what they are getting for it. If the war office is so indifferent to its responsibilities that it cannot deal with humble military powers like Persia or Egypt "on demand"—what on earth chance has it against Russia?

The state of inefficiency is really quite alarming. As one critic put it—he wondered whether they could mobilize the forces necessary to deal with a respectable riot it they were called on by the police.

It appears that the Royal Air Force and the Royal Navy are at least better prepared than the army; but senior officers are far from satisfied. The RAF, for example, has some very superior equipment but not a great deal of it; the Royal Navy is in a state of transition and I have been told that they have allowed the traditional fleet to run down before there are adequate resources in the new type fleet. Even so, both these arms of the service are obviously in a state of greater preparedness than the army.

The point now being emphasized by the "realists" of international affairs is that while there is justification for believing that the chance of a major war is receding and that something in the nature of international peace may materialize from the four summit conferences, the probability remains that Russia will maintain its attitude of creating trouble spots so as to keep the Western powers occupied and, if possible, in a state of mild tension. Algeria is a case in point, and Africa generally and Asia all offer great possibilities for Russian irritation tactics and it may well mean that some of these will need military intervention.

* * *

We managed to ease our way out of Abadan, we managed to escape with considerable dishonor from the Suez intervention; but it seems improbable that we can go on that way even if it were considered desirable. There is obviously a necessity for an efficient mobile force, backed up by a complete organization, which can deal with trouble areas without warning. Ideally most people in Britain would like to see such a force as part of the United Nations, but for the present that machine is too cumbersome to deal quickly and effectively with an emergency situation.

Lord Morrison has done a very useful service by revealing that the Labor government would have acted differently at Abadan had they been able to do so, and his emphasis on the need to have a force capable of taking instant action in an emergency anywhere in the world.

Nuclear Testing

The Benefit of the Doubt

(From The Montreal Star)

IT may sound discouraging that Mr. Eisenhower has now resumed freedom of action in the matter of nuclear testing. A steadily growing world opinion wants no more of it, and the president's action will be interpreted in those quarters as foreshadowing more explosions. This is not explicit in the new White House directive. Until testing is actually resumed, Mr. Eisenhower is entitled to the benefit of the doubt.

It must be recalled that the U.S. ban on tests was imposed in the first place as a gesture of good faith toward the Geneva conference which, for so many months, has been working on some effective form of inspecting a formal international prohibition. This conference has been, to put it mildly, making very heavy weather of it. The last snag has been a Russian refusal to accept U.S. findings on ways and means to detect underground tests.

* * *

The real trouble has been that the Russians claim a simple resolution prohibiting tests is all that is needed, whereas the Americans claim that the simple declaration must be accompanied by inspection and control. In that argument the Russians are wrong and the United States is right.

In these circumstances the resumption of freedom of action by the United States becomes a bargaining weapon, not a threat. It just may be that it will soften Russian attitudes and make an agreement at Geneva possible. But it is equally in the cards that Mr. Eisenhower's action will be used as an excuse to break off the negotiations.

* * *

Perhaps there is a middle course. The problem of nuclear testing may now be tossed into the hands of the projected summit conference where, undoubtedly, a busy time will be had. There is a chance that the much-heralded summit will become nothing but a convenient basket into which all problems can be tossed.

This is all very discouraging, but it is hard to blame Mr. Eisenhower for what he has done. If there has been honesty of purpose at Geneva, there has been ample time for it to show up. It has not done so, and it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that Russian double-talk has been to blame. The Soviets proclaim the dire need to abolish testing and to ban the bomb. They do not, however, get down to the hard business of devising adequate policing of the declaration once it is made.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

WE frequently hear of men who are great leaders. It is worth reflecting for a minute on the fact that there never was a great leader who did not have great men to lead.

As a matter of fact, we might as well admit that great leaders are impossible without great followers, and that many a man has gained a reputation largely on the quality of those he led rather than on his own qualities. Of the greatest of them we can say that he was the best of the best. Of a good many of those who have gone down in history as great leaders, it can more accurately be said that they were lucky enough to be chosen by good men as their leaders.

At no time within living memory has it been more important to us to think this over. In our day we have seen great leaders. We saw Hitler lead a great nation to despicable disaster because those who followed closest on his heels were monsters whose behavior galvanized several nations in fateful action. We saw Mussolini lead his people like a Pied Piper for a time, and when they wilted, he wilted. We have seen Stalin, Malenkov, one, two, three, four, Khrushchev. Are they greater than those they lead, or are those they lead greater than they? We are attempting to find out.

But it brings us to the question: how great are our leaders?

And how great are we?

Those Christmas 'Cards'

(From The Ottawa Journal)

GATHERING up our courage in both hands we proclaim that we have a few friends whose Christmas cards are far too big. We lived with these cards for a week. They oppressed us.

No matter how generous the spirit of Christmas we have never wanted cards big enough for framing or more elaborate than the masterpieces in the Louvre.

If this trend continues, Christmas cards will have to be delivered on rollers to be unwound at leisure; they will be far too big to be sent flat through the mail.

And if they become any more expensive they will be delivered by an armed guard in an armored truck.

With the Classics

Little lamb, who made thee?
Dost thou know who made thee,
Gave thee life and bade thee feed
By the stream and o'er the mead;
Gave thee clothing of delight,
Softest clothing, woolly, bright;
Gave thee such a tender voice,
Making all the vales rejoice?
Little lamb, who made thee?
Dost thou know who made thee?

'Half-Breed' to Him A Badge of Honor

Faces of Canada
By Leon Kossar

LEBRET, Sask. (TNS)—Joe LaRocque's features are strong, sharply defined—almost as if they were chiseled from the very shale of the Qu'Appelle hills that have been his home for 78 years.

Just as strong are the feelings of this pemmican-eating town chronicler for his own people, the Metis.

This tall, broad-shouldered jack-of-all-trades is a descendant of the half-French, half-Indian "peacemakers" of Canada's great western plain.

A buffalo hunter's son, he is fiercely proud of the fact he is a half-breed.

'Half-Breed'

To Joe, this is no ignominous term. Through the years he has used the words "Metis" and "half-breed" interchangeably and has helped many of his inhibited kinsmen wear the Metis mantle with a sense of pride that has commanded respect for these people of mixed blood.

There are 20,000 Metis in Saskatchewan today. Hundreds make their home in the Qu-Apple Valley.

They are friends of the white man, friends of the Indian—but accepted by neither as true blood brother.

Attuned to Metis social problems, Joe LaRocque claims the Metis situation is often more difficult to handle than that of the Indian.

Nomadic Life

The Metis exhibit some of the less fortunate characteristics of their Indian friends: an inclination to shirk routine, lead a nomadic life, and, as Joe says, "be somewhat improvident."

But on the positive side they combined many of the best qualities of the French traders and voyageurs, and the Indian hunter: they were often in better physical trim than their neighboring white men, more alert mentally than their Indian friends.

JOE LA ROCQUE

Throughout the history of the Canadian West, the Metis served as important liaison men. They were the scouts, the guides, the negotiators.

"If it hadn't been for the Metis," recalled Joe, "many of the traders would have been massacred outright."

Leaderless

Yet the Metis have been "leaderless, homeless and friendless" through much of their history, observes this elder statesman of a vanishing race.

Unlike the Indian, the Metis are not wards of the government.

With more than 100 Metis families in the Lebret district, many still live as squatters on land that was once their family's or their own.

After the federal government stepped in to deal with the Metis land question in 1900 and issued what became known as the "Half Breed Script," 240-acre parcels of land were granted to Metis families.

Made Millions

"Soon after, speculators made millions on the Metis lands. Because the Metis had no one to turn to, they sold to many who offered little more than $80 and a bottle of bad whisky per section," said Joe.

"Then the Metis took to the hillsides and coulees. Many have remained there in small shacks or frame homes ever since."

Others, like Joe, kept their lands, sold some of it to finance businesses or education. Joe studied in local schools, then travelled to Winnipeg to attend college. Joe knew English, as well as being fluent in French and Cree.

RCMP Authority

He returned to Lebret, became, in turn, a Saskatchewan provincial police officer until the force disbanded in favor of RCMP authority, a natural resources field officer, water conservation inspector, insurance and real estate man, commissioner of oaths. Now he has retired.

Joe's American-born wife, who has developed an overwhelming sympathy for the Metis, bustles about their two-story frame home on Labret's main street to prepare such delicacies as Saskatoon berry preserves, pemmican from meat cracklings and bitter-sweet prairie chokeberries, their own cottage cheese.

Kissing Day

Until recently Metis families used to gather in Lebret on New Year's Day — "Kissing Day" — to celebrate with Metis dishes such as pemmican, potine, bollets and beigne croche.

"But much of it has died away in the past few years," Joe said.

Far from terming the Metis situation "hopeless" as some people have done, Joe points with pride to the successes of younger people in recent years.

Eight of the Metis in the area went on from Lebret public school to become trained teachers, while three Metis girls have entered nursing. Others have become lab technicians, garage mechanics, and have taken to other technical jobs.

Much Progress

Two colony farms, organized at Lebret and Green Lake, Sask., have "taught the rudiments of agriculture to the younger generation and it seems a good deal of progress has been made," Joe noted.

The Metis as a group trace back to the early settlement of the West when French voyageurs and Scottish-English traders intermarried with women of the great Cree tribe.

Joe's own father, Antoine, was a trader and buffalo hunter who trekked several times across the West with a caravan of 50 Red River carts.

As do many of the Metis, Joe feels the great Metis figure of the 1885 rebellion against the government, Louis Riel, has been much maligned by history.

Last Legs

There is growing evidence, Joe says, that the Louis Riel insurrection was incited by traders who had advanced too many goods to the people at a time when Buffalo herds were on their last legs.

"They wanted a rebellion so they could claim imdemnities," Joe said.

Joe's thumbnail analysis of his people:

"We're a happy family together. Kind of restless at times, but never with any serious trouble. If we fight one day, we kiss the next."

Forest Dispute Ends

The longest forest management licence controversy in the history of British Columbia ended this week when, after nine years of arguing, Judge C. W. Morrow recommended that some 385,000 acres in the Squamish area be managed as a tree farm licence.

The provincial cabinet moved quickly, and on the basis of the Morrow report dismissed an appeal made in September, 1954, against the tree farm licence granted to Empire Mills Ltd. on June 15, 1954.

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston said negotiations will start almost immediately on the actual terms and contract provisions of the licence that will be granted Empire Mills.

Application was originally granted by former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers. The licence was appealed and the late Gordon Sloan conducted hearings, but they were incomplete at the time of his death.

Chamber to Keep an Eye On Airline Hearings

Victoria Chamber of Commerce probably will take an active interest in anticipated hearings in Vancouver and Victoria in February on Pacific Western Airlines' application to enter the Victoria-Vancouver service, whether or not it submits a brief.

W. A. Pendray, chamber president, said yesterday when he heard that the Air Transport Board plans the hearings that he believes representatives will at least attend in a watching capacity.

24 Premises Left Open In Six Days

Victoria businessmen, already under police commission fire for leaving their premises unlocked 94 times during November, appear to be heading for a new record this month.

Chief Constable John Blackstock said yesterday that in the first six days of January, 24 such insecure premises had been reported by patrolling constables.

Currently under study by the city is a suggestion that such firms be assessed a fee for each occasion, based perhaps on the time required for a constable to make sure the building was free of burglars and relocked.

This, said Chief Blackstock, requires an average of an hour's time for the constable—time taken from other police duties.

Rabbit Group Meets Friday

Vancouver Island Rabbit Breeders' Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Strawberry Vale Women's Institute Hall.

An association spokesman said all breeders of rabbits will be welcome.

Why competition among oil companies for customers like "The Canadian" benefits you

You and customers like the railroads want to be sure that you are getting the best products, the best service and the best price.

In Canada there are 74 oil companies competing to serve you and your car. Imperial is one of them and has 13,000 people working in oil fields, research laboratories, refineries and sales forces—all helping to compete for business.

The standards of qualify, service and price that it takes to win railroad business benefit all our customers, large and small.

That's one reason Canadians have made Esso stations the busiest on Canadian roads.

Takeover Bid Gives Boost To North Star

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market, after an early rise, slipped and floundered at lower levels amid moderately heavy trading.

The bright feature of the market was the 10¾-point advance of North Star Oil at 33¼.

Other winners were Huron and Erie which advanced 1⅛ at 57 and Moore Corp. which went up ¾ at 43.

On the losing side, Cockshutt and Fraser each lost 1⅜ at 22⅝ and 27⅝ respectively. General Motors fell 1⅛ at 52⅝. Trans-Canada Pipe Line was off ⅞ at 24½ and Consumer's Gas lost ¾ at 37⅝.

Western oils wandered aimlessly most of the day before closing out at a slightly lower level. Royalite was the big winner going up $1.70 at $9. Calgary and Edmonton lost ½ at 20½, and Home Oil A was down ¼ at 12¼.

Papers Decline

MONTREAL (CP)—Banks and golds rose and industrials, papers and utilities were off at the end of fairly active trading.

Provincial was up 1¾ at 40¾ in the banks section. Montreal dropped 1 to 54¾ while Royal rose ½ at 79½.

Consolidated Paper lost ½ at 41½; Fraser dropped 1 at 27½ and Great Lakes down 1⅛ at 41⅝. Bathurst rose ½ at 41½ and B.C. Forest increased ¼ at 14¼.

Union Gas lost ½ at 15⅝ in utilities while Calgary Power was up ⅜ at 19 and Canadian International Power up ¼ at 14½.

Pipelines split even. Interprovincial closed at 59½, down ½ and Consumer Gas was off ½ at 37¾ while Trans-Canada rose ¼ to 24½ and Trans-Mountain went up ½ at 11⅞.

Refining oils had B. A. Oil off ¼ at 34⅞ and Canadian Oil up ¼ at 24½.

Home A slipped ¼ at 12¼ in the Western oils group. Pacific Pete was off ⅜ at 12⅛ and Royalite down 70 cents at 8.00.

Traders Jittery

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market retreated under heavy pressure following President Eisenhower's state of the union pledge to hold inflation within bounds.

Because his message lacked any inflation potential and even stressed the avoidance of inflation, many in the street used it as an excuse to take profits.

Traders have had tight money jitters since Tuesday's rate boost on loans to brokers and dealers.

A report the Pentagon plans to spend more in its missile program brought gains of a point in Martin, a large fraction in General Dynamics, and 1¾ in Thiokol, a maker of rocket fuels.

American Motors jumped more than 3 points, while other components in the autos lagged.

Growers Wine Jumps

VANCOUVER — Westminster Paper rose to a new high of $38¼, while other industrials reflected a firm tone. Growers Wine jumped to $7¾, while B.C. Power was in some demand at $37½. Midwest Industrial Gas was up 5 cents at $2.

Mac-Powell was active, closing at $18⅝.

Vantor at 72 cents and Peace River at 30 cents were most active of a firm oil group.

Cassiar Asbestos was steady at $12⅞, but mines generally were mixed. Cowichan at 66 cents and Sheep Creek at 95 cents both lost pennies but Mid West Copper and Western Exploration made small gains. Silbak was active and closed at 19 cents.

Gas Hearing

Distributors Back Export

OTTAWA (CP) — Forecasts of Canadian market requirements by Trans-Canada Pipe Line Co. were subjected to questioning before the national energy board, hearing five applications to export gas to the United States.

It has been suggested that Trans-Canada may be underestimating the Canadian demand and would not be able to handle the U.S. exports.

But three witnesses called by Trans-Canada from distributor firms it supplies all backed Trans-Canada forecasts applying to them. The representatives of the Greater Winnipeg Gas Company said they regarded the estimates favorably.

Quebec Natural Gas said Trans-Canada might in fact be over optimistic about how much the Quebec market would take.

The board adjourned for the day with one Trans-Canada market witness still to be heard.

November Trade Shows a Surplus

OTTAWA (UPI)—A small November export surplus, the first of the year, held Canada's trade deficit to $512,400,000 in the first 11 months of 1959, the bureau of statistics reports.

Despite the favorable monthly balance, however, the January-November deficit was well above the 1958 11 months' figure of $288,100,000.

The November export surplus of $9,400,000—was a result of a 22.5 per cent boost in exports $499,000,000 from the previous year's $407,200,000. Imports in the month showed only a 7.4 per cent increase to $489,600,000 from $455,700,000 a year earlier.

The November 1958 deficit was $48,500,000.

Grower's Wine Development

Bass's May Be Bottled Here

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

A new development is reported for Growers' Wine, which manufactures wines in Victoria and Vancouver. Arrangements are being made by the company to import a number of British beverages in bulk, and to bottle them in Vancouver for distribution to the four western provinces.

Among the lines for which Growers' Wine is arranging a distribution agency is Bass's Ale, made at Burton-on-Trent, and one of the leading U.K. brands.

E. C. Warner, vice-president of Willson Stationery Co. Ltd. holds a substantial interest in Growers' Wine, is negotiating with the British companies.

Mr. Warner says the move has been facilitated by the establishment of a bottle making factory in Burnaby by Dominion Glass Company. Hitherto B.C. has imported bottles for the trade from outside the province.

MORE THAN EXPECTED

The common stock of North Star Oil rose $10 when the market opened yesterday, following acceptance by trustees of the late F. C. Manning, of a take-over bid by Shell Oil Company of Canada.

Shell Oil has not only undertaken to buy the shares held by the company's former president who died last summer, but is also willing to pay $34¼ for shares held by other shareholders of the company. It will also pay $19 for "A" shares of North Star Oil.

All the leading Canadian oil companies, except Imperial Oil, made bids for North Star and the tenders were opened in Halifax, Wednesday. It had been reported earlier that they would be opened in Calgary today.

Although it had been known for some time that new financial arrangements were pending for North Star, and that a take-over bid was possible, the market experts obviously undervalued the potential value of the company.

North Star Oil common sold at $22½ on Wednesday evening. On Thursday morning the price jumped to $33¾.

North Star is the second largest independent refining and distributing operation in Canada with 206 service stations, 351 bulk plants and two refineries. Over $30,000,000 is involved in the deal.

NEW LINE FOR ALCAN

Aluminum Company of Canada has entered a production-sharing contract for aluminum blade forgings with Sikorsky Aircraft of Stratford, Ont.

The blades are used in the production of the famed S-58 helicopter used commercially and militarily in nine countries.

Alcan will supply the blade to a close tolerance so that a minimum amount of machining will be required before installation in the aircraft.

Chan Respected Law

Not Even Parking Ticket in 19 Months, Says Counsel

VANCOUVER (CP)—Counsel for Weldon Chan says the Hong Kong-born Chinese sought in Canada for deportation has not so much as received a parking ticket during his 19 months in Vacouver.

Harry S. Fan, acting on behalf of Chan and his wife and five-year-old daughter, made this claim in a statement released here in reply to a statement made last Dec. 10 by Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough in Ottawa.

Mrs. Fairclough said the 40-year-old Chinese had tried to make a mockery of Canadian law and would be deported when he was found.

Chan disappeared from his Vancouver home Nov. 5 while a deportation order was pending against him. He and his family entered Canada in April, 1958, on a visitors' visa.

Last Dec. 10, Mrs. Fairclough issued a bristling statement.

"Weldon Chan has on successive occasions broken the law of this country; he has indeed attempted to make a mockery of the law that it is my duty to uphold."

Mr. Fan's statement yesterday said Chan's first application in 1950 was for an immigrant visa, refused on grounds there was no quota for Chinese to enter Canada.

"It reflects not the bad character of Weldon, but the bad immigration laws of Canada," Mr. Fan said.

He said Chan had stated in his first application that his father-in-law was in Vancouver and that the father-in-law had made a misrepresentation in telling immigration authorities that no relative of his lived outside Canada.

Mr. Fan said the father-in-law's insistence that he had no relatives in Hong Kong left Chan "no choice but to deny this father-in-law in his second application in March, 1954, in Hong Kong."

VIEWS of SPORT

By Red Smith

Ingemar Johansson may or may not be the most destructive right hand puncher since Kayo Cain took Abel out in a round, but the Swedish schlager is by all odds the most agreeable. "Johansson Agrees to Defend Title Against Patterson" has become a most familiar headline in sports journalism, a haunting refrain that salutes the reader over his breakfast coffee, recaptures the roving eye in subway and home-bound commuter train, winds up the late news broadcast at bed time.

Even before he swatted Floyd Patterson loose from his intellect last June, Ingemar agreed with Bill Rosenson, Patterson, and Cus D'Amato, on the idea of a return match.

Shortly after the first bout, he reached agreement with Vincent J. Velella, Jack Dempsey, and affiliated emissaries. Since then everybody he has talked to—newspaper men, Truman Gibson, London's Jack Solomons, Joe Tepper, and other would-be promoters has found him still agreeable and agreeing in principle.

Now he has agreed all over again, this time with Roy M. Cohn, Thomas Bolan, Humbert Fugazy, and Tommy Loughran in Saltsjobaden, a Scandinavian watering place, and 10 other guys in absentia, a suburb of Scarsdale.

This ought to make it official, but a few minor details remain to be dealt with before setting up a ring in Yankee Stadium or the Polo grounds.

All They Have to Do

Roy Cohn's group—this week's owners of the agreement Johansson signed last August with Velella and D'Amato's lawyer, Edwin Schweig, to replace a personal agreement he had signed with Rosensohn, who had subsequently assigned this agreement to Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc., where Velella had replaced Rosensohn as president—must seek and receive a licence to promote a fight in New York. Are we going too fast?

Johansson must sign an agreement designating the promoter, the site, the date, and the financial terms. This agreement must be filed with the New York State Athletic Commission and receive formal approval of the Commission.

Patterson must sign a similar agreement under conditions agreeable to the Commission, which has revoked the licence of D'Amato as Floyd's manager. Presumably the Commission will require assurance that nobody is acting as an undercover manager of Patterson or receiving the manager's one-third slice of Floyd's purse.

Arrangements acceptable to both fighters and to the Commission must be made for division of receipts from the gate, television, radio and movies. If the agreement now held by Cohn's group assigns these supplementary rights to Floyd Patterson Enterprises Ltd., the Commission will inquire into the unfrocked D'Amato's connection with Patterson Enterprises, if any.

If Patterson Enterprises has already sold the supplementary rights to TelePrompter, Inc. or a competitor, this agreemnet will have to be filed with and approved by the Commission, unless some court rules otherwise.

Just Open the Gates

Once these details have been disposed of, there'll be nothing left to do except establish training camps and publicity organizations, rent an arena, settle on a seating plan and price scale, advertise the match, print, distribute and sell tickets, sign up a supporting card, set up cameras, turn on the lights, and open up the gates.

At any point thereafter, one punch can end it all.

Remembering Johansson's swift efficiency of last June, most of the loftier intellects would expect such a consummation to be wrought by Ingo's punch, not Patterson's. If and when they get into a ring again, the Swede will almost surely be the favorite, and properly so.

Yet a belief persists here that Patterson has the equipment to regain the championship, if he could put those tools to effective use. We know now that Johansson can throw a decisive punch accurately and can respond quickly to an opportunity. How well he can smother a resolute attack, take a punch, or react in an emergency we do not know. There is acceptable evidence that he must set himself to throw the right effectively.

Patterson has fine speed and swift reflexes and although he is not a crushing puncher, he can hit well enough to chew up and destroy a heavyweight who doesn't get him first. If he were to pile into Johansson, stay on top of him, and never let him get set for the big right, he might win off by himself.

After seven and a half years as a professional with relatively little experience against first-rate opposition, after hundreds and hundreds of hours of schooling in the cautious peek-a-boo style D'Amato teaches, could he shake ingrained habit and make an impetuous fight? One has to doubt it.

New Racing Regulations Given Cabinet Approval

By BRUCE LOWTHER

Full control of all horse racing in British Columbia has been taken over by the provincial government, Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced last night.

The cabinet yesterday proclaimed into law 370 regulations resulting from approval of an act by the Legislature last spring that set up a B.C. Racing Commission.

The regulations:

1. Provide for a three-member commission and give it power over all aspects of racing.

2. Provide for a full-time paid racing steward, to be chosen by the commission, who will enforce the regulations.

3. List the rules of racing laid down in former years by the privately-owned governing body, Vancouver Thoroughbred Association Ltd., with only a few minor changes.

Only significant change of other than grammatical nature is that licences of jockeys, trainers, etc., formerly issued for a calendar year, now will be issued for a racing season.

Licences will be issued effective next May 1 to cover the Exhibition Park, Lansdowne and Sandown meets.

Mr. Bonner said the government "hopes later this month to be able to name" the three commissioners. Appointment of the steward, who will co-operate with track operators in the naming of associate stewards for meets, will follow soon after.

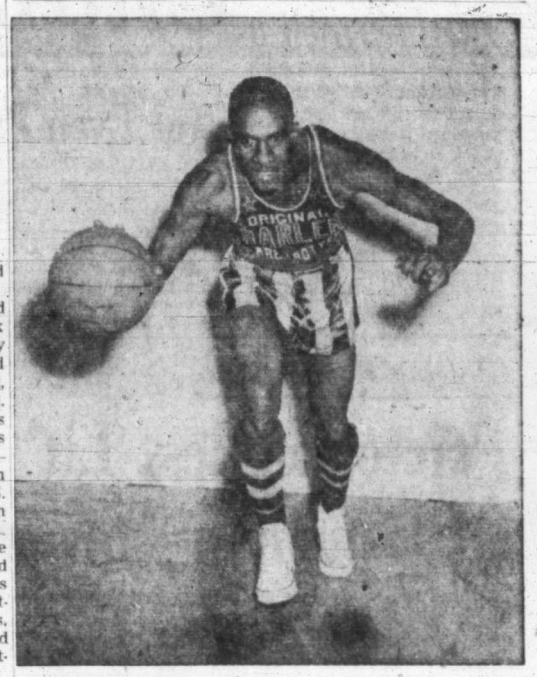

Writing the regulations, first expected last June, proved a difficult task but, said Mr. Bonner, "we believe they carry the support of all interested parties."

Government officials worked with horse owners and track operators during the lengthy task, including Bob, Bill and Jack Randall, Dave Diamond, Stan Hoskin and Bill Lochead.

Key section of regulations setting down the commission's powers—control of licences—is the same as similar rules in Canadian provinces and U.S. states where governments run racing.

It bars licences to anyone convicted of crimes, employed by or associating with persons convicted of crimes, associating with bookmakers or touts, guilty of attempting any fraud in racing and guilty of violating any racing regulations.

Bruins Replace Hawks In Last Playoff Spot

BRONCO HORVATH
. . . ties Hull

BOSTON — Chicago Black Hawks are finding that Boston Bruins, who always seem to win a crucial game, have no intentions of relinquishing the National Hockey League's fourth and final playoff position without a fight.

Bruins, who haven't won more than two straight games in over six weeks, shoved Chicago back into fifth place last night by thumping the Black Hawks 5-1 before 11,141 approving Garden fans.

Chicago had taken fourth place Wednesday with a 3-2 win over New York Rangers. Attempting to gain their first solid playoff footing of the season, Chicago was knocked back into fifth last night by the determined Bruins.

Chicago lost a player in the first period for the rest of the game for a second straight night and by the time the Hawks adjusted to being shorthanded, Boston had run up a 3-0 lead.

Defenceman Al Arbour was handed a game misconduct midway through the first period after protesting a call by referee Frank Udvari. Young scoring star Bobby Hull of the Hawks had been thrown out of Wednesday's game with New York after a stick-swinging brawl with Lou Fontinato.

HANDLED PUCK

Arbour was tagged with a minor penalty for handling the puck after going to his knees to block a shot by Boston's Fleming Mackell. Arbour protested and was dealt a misconduct penalty and then the game misconduct.

Arbour received an automatic fine of $75 for the penalties, $25 and $50 respectively.

Boston grabbed a 2-0 first-period lead on goals by Mackell and Vic Stasiuk, Tod Sloan sat out Arbour's minor penalty.

Charlie Burns, teaming with Guy Gendron and Mackell to form a new line, put Boston ahead 3-0 with the only goal of the second.

OUT OF REACH

Third period goals by Boston's Bronco Horvath and Don McKenney put it out of reach. Ed Litzenberger scored Chicago's lone goal midway through the period.

In addition to his 26th goal of the season, Horvath also had an assist on Stasiuk's first-period goal to move into a tie for the scoring leadership with Chicago's Hull. Both have 49 points.

Victoria Curlers Play at Home

DUNCAN (Special) — A small part of the eighth annual Duncan bonspiel was played last night at the Victoria Curling Club.

Rather than journey up-Island to play a first-round game, Gordie Moore and Dick Thompson of Victoria were allowed to play at their home club with Moore taking an easy 11-4 win.

The Duncan Bonspiel opened Thursday afternoon at Duncan with Larry Marshall of Victoria and Dave Dunn of Nanaimo both scoring two victories in early draws.

Marshall had two close calls. First, against young Freddy Duncan of Duncan who chipped his own shot rock out of the house and allowed Marshall to score three to win the game, 14-13.

In the evening against Bud Taylor's youthful rink, Marshall trailed 5-0 after two ends but finally pulled ahead by scoring on five successive ends to grab a 7-5 margin.

Taylor tied it up with two on the eighth. Marshall got one on the ninth and almost lost the game when Gary Liebel, who is skipping the rink, missed his last rock takeout to leave Taylor lying one and needing only a draw to the eight-foot ring to win.

But Taylor was heavy and forced an extra end. On the extra end he wrecked trying to draw behind a guard and Liebel, who had two biters, didn't have to throw his last rock to win 10-8.

Dunn defeated G. Thomson of Victoria 9-6 and had a 9-8 evening victory over Prest of Duncan.

Smart Skip Knows How to 'Read' Ice

One day some ingenious ice-maker will devise a method of applying a pre-game pebble that will not cause a variance of 20 to 40 feet in draw weight between the first and final ends.

The present spot pebble applied via sprinkler provides a never-ending source of annoyance to new curlers who find that it is troublesome enough to fathom the intricacies of the in-turn and out-turn without having to unravel the mystery of drawing to the rings on ice that is constantly changing the weight requirements as the pebble is worn down.

To make matters worse the five-inch cup on which the stone rides blazes a very narrow trail over the pinpoints of frozen moisture so that it may take several ends to provide keen ice on all parts of the sheet. Side ice particularly is seldom if ever ground into submission. It takes a pretty smart skip with a photographic memory to remember the smooth as well as the rough areas of the ice as the game grinds on. What chance has a novice then to gauge the exact amount of weight for any given draw, guard or raise that his skip signals?

VITALLY IMPORTANT

The strategy employed by a skip with any sense of self-preservation during these early ends is vitally important. May I offer a few suggestions to help the skipper preserve his sanity and his players their self-confidence?

For a team of average or even better-than-average rock-tossers it is imperative that the skip keeps the strategy simple during this breaking-in period.

Forget about fancy draws behind an opponent's stone. Even if by some miracle a draw is made and is still exposed you will set up a hit and roll behind shot for your adversary. Hitting is much easier on early ice when draws are of the "guess and by golly" variety. Keep your draws in the open to one side of the rings in such cases. If they fall short the centre ice may still be open for other attempts. And never ask for a lay-up shot or a guard from any but a proven curler at this point. Call for a removal with light hack weight and at worst you should get a draw.

GO FOR FRONT

If by chance the fortunate flip of the coin gives you last rock on the first end and your opponents manage to get shot and guarded, go for the front and let the air in so that you will at least have a ghost of a chance with your last stone.

Play both turns during the first two ends, not only to study the topography of the surface but to beat the pebble into submission on both sides of the ice. Too many skips stick to one turn and wear down one side of the sheet to easy draw weight then find themselves suddenly confronted with a delicate shot on the other half where accurate weight is a matter of a prayer or a promise. A skip does not have to be a student of psychology to know that if he wants to inspire confidence in his team-mates and get a creditable performance from them, they must make a fair percentage of their shots during the crucial early ends.

Common sense alone suggests that simplicity in strategy and play during the first stanza or so will avert the demoralization that can set in when you and your team get off to a bad start.

Chamberlain Pots 44 To Cut Scoring Lead

SYRACUSE—Wilt Chamberlain soared to 44 points here last night as Philadelphia Warriors beat Detroit 126-105 and thus cut the National Basketball Association scoring lead of Cincinnati's Jack Twyman to 22 points.

Twyman, closely guarded by George Yardley, slumped to 20 points and Yardley got 24 as Syracuse beat Cincinnati 132-114 in the other game of the doubleheader — the Nats' fifth win in their last six starts.

Chamberlain, who now has 1,295 points to Twyman's 1,317, tied Bill Russell's record of 30 rebounds as Warriors won their sixth straight.

Elks Still Lead

Elks maintained their first-place standing in the Inter-Club Snooker League by defeating Army and Navy 8-4 in one of three games played Monday. Propats beat Britannia Legion 7-5 and Tillicums edged Eagles 7-5.

Elks continue to lead the league with 79 points while Tillicums have 74.

Sooners Put On Probation; 'Booster' Won't Co-operate

One man stands between the University of Oklahoma's football team and future appearances in the Orange Bowl and on National Collegiate Athletic Association television programs—and he won't give in.

He's Arthur Wood, Oklahoma City accountant and Sooner booster, whose alleged "recruiting fund" has caused the NCAA to put Oklahoma on definite probation — second such discipline of Oklahoma in five years.

Sooners won't be allowed in any bowl game or on NCAA telecasts unless Wood discloses operations of his fund between 1952 and 1954. He says: "I don't plan to co-operate at all, either with the university or the NCAA. I don't give a damn."

Tulsa University drew a one-year probation for offering a prospective student athlete too much money, but Tulsa won't be barred from post-season action.

California pulled out of the National Boxing Association yesterday as its state athletic commission charged the NBA has been lax in combatting hoodlum influence in boxing.

The Californians said they have repeatedly urged the NBA to develop an effective national regulatory program and a talent-development plan designed to revive interest in boxing as a wholesome sport.

But the NBA has done nothing, they said. In fact, "it has even declined to appoint a study committee."

Two Centuries Boost England's 430 Total

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (Reuters)—England's national cricket team built up a first-innings total of 430 runs for the loss of seven wickets on the second day of the first test match against West Indies Thursday.

The English batsmen made 188 runs for the loss of three wickets on the first day of the six-day match.

Ken Barrington, who began his turn at bat Wednesday, and Ted Dexter both piled up centuries for the visiting team.

Barrington raised his overnight total of 73 to 128 before succumbing after lunch — his first test century. Dexter still was batting at close of play, with his personal total of 103.

The host spin-bowlers made the biggest dent in England's defence, Sonny Ramadhin accounting for two wickets and Reg Scarlett setting up another out.

Barrington and Mike Smith took up for England at start of play Thursday and laid on 53 runs in the first hour.

But Ramadhin and Scarlett joined forces to stall the partnership's tally after Barrington had put up his century after four hours and 35 minutes at bat.

School Hoopers Back in Action

Nanaimo Hands Japanese Third Straight Hockey Loss

NANAIMO—Japan's Olympic hockey team, reaching the halfway point of its six-game B.C. tour, lost its third straight here last night, bowing 10-5 to Nanaimo Labatts of the Pacific Coast Amateur League.

Crowd of 2,009 third sell-out in succession to watch the Japanese in action saw Nanaimo build up a 4-0 lead in the first period and extend it to 5-3 after 40 minutes.

Centre Shinichi Homma (No. 10) led both teams with three goals while Buddy Dumont had two goals and three assists for Nanaimo. Earl Robinson and Joe Zubach of Labatts chipped in two goals and two assists each.

Toshihiko Yamada, who scored Japan's only goal in Victoria Monday and got three in Vancouver Wednesday, went without a point in Nanaimo but was happy, anyway. He was given a hat by Nanaimo officials for his hat trick—and it fitted.

Labatts outshot Japan 54-33 and the visitors, who didn't get a penalty in Victoria and then took one of five at Vancouver, received a game's only penalty, a first-period minor. It didn't figure in the scoring.

Rich Pro Golf Tourneys Start New Season Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) The nation's top golfers hit the 1960 money trail today and it is a rich one.

In California alone, leading off today with the $44,500 Los Angeles Open, the professionals will shoot for prize money totalling $244,500 in the next five weeks.

Some of the money will come from pro-amateur competition, but it's money just the same.

Today the serious work, spread over four rounds winding up Monday, gets underway at the now familiar site of the event, the Rancho municipal golf course.

Next week the pros compete for $25,000 at the new Yorba Linda Country Club, a tournament that replaced the Caliente Open in Tijuana, Mex.

Bing Crosby, throws his annual clambake Jan. 21-24, this one for a $50,000 purse, at Monterey Peninsula in northern California.

The firing switches again to southern California Jan. 28-31 for the $25,000 San Diego Open at Mission Valley Country Club.

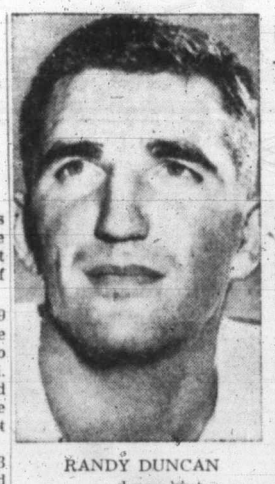

The California phase concludes with a fabulous $100,000 event styled the Palm Springs desert classic. It is set for Feb. 3-7 and will be played at 90 holes.

The Los Angeles Open, the original anchor for the winter tour in the west, observes its 34th birthday.

Young Ken Venturi is the defending champion, thanks to an almost incredible 63 he fired in the final round. It gave him a 72-hole score of 278, six under par.

Art Wall Jr., the 1959 masters and "golfer of the year," is back, hoping for no more hot streaks from Venturi. Wall went into the final round last year with a one-stroke lead over the field and eight strokes in front of Venturi.

Wall had a respectable 73 but it gave him 280 and second place money.

RANDY DUNCAN

Game Not Definite

Lions vs. Bombers in Iowa?

DES MOINES, Iowa (CP)—Randy Duncan, rookie quarterback of British Columbia Lions and former Iowa star, has dropped a hint that Iowa may get a sample of Canadian football next season.

Duncan told a Des Moines football writers' meeting Wednesday the Western Interprovincial Football Union Lions and Grey Cup champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers may play an exhibition game next season at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

After explaining some of the difference between American and Canadian football, Duncan said:

"You may get a chance to see it next August. There's a move on to play a game between B.C. and Winnipeg in Cedar Rapids. Each of those clubs have quite a few Iowa boys."

It won't be the first time Lions have played in the U.S. In 1956 B.C. and Edmonton played a pre-season game at Portland.

In Vancouver, Lion president Harry Spring said he knows nothing about any game in Des Moines. He said coach Wayne Robinson and manager Herb Capozzi are in New York attending a coaching clinic and it is possible that they may have had some discussions on the matter.

"But I have heard nothing about it if they have," Spring said.

At Winnipeg, Ralph Parliament, president of the Grey Cup champion Blue Bombers, said there had been some discussion about such a game, but they were very vague.

"If it was financially attractive enough, something might be worked out," he said. "But a club can only play so many exhibition games before the regular schedule."

Candidate: Wicks

'Boo Boo Of Year'

PORT ALBERNI — Officers of IWA local 1-85 yesterday claimed Labor Minister Lyle Wicks is top candidate for the "Biggest Boo Boo of the Year" award.

They were commenting, in a prepared statement, on a statement by Mr. Wicks that an increase in fatalities in the logging industry may be due to political manoeuvres in the IWA.

AXE TO GRIND

"This would lead one to believe that the minister has an axe to grind with organized labor in general and the IWA in particular," the statement continued.

"There is no doubt that Mr. Wicks is unhappy over the fact that he was not invited to the B.C. Federation of Labor convention or the IWA Regional Safety Conference. Recent press reports indicate that the decision to leave him at home was the correct one.

BEST PROGRAM

"Mr. Wick's alleged press release makes him top candidate for the Biggest Boo Boo of the year 1960. Nothing could be more undermining to what has become one of the best safety programs in North America—the envy of every forest products industry outside of B.C.

The safety director of IWA Regional Council Number 1, was a guest speaker at the recent National Safety Conference in Chicago. The policy of the Regional Council Number 1 of the IWA has always been to maintain the most efficient possible program of protection of life and limb.

"This policy has not changed and will not be changed despite the weird statements of the minister of labor.

"A person in Mr. Wick's position is able to discover, if he cares to take the time, that the majority of fatal accidents in 1959 occurred in small unorganized operations in outlying areas where it is practically impossible for the IWA to service the employees or maintain a union safety committee.

"Many of these same operations are seldom if ever visited from one year's end to the other by Workmen's Compensation Board safety inspectors and in many instances apparently don't even know the camp exists until after a fatal accident has occurred.

"The Port Alberni local of the IWA has an average monthly membership of 4,000 and covers the Alberni Inlet and the West Coast of Vancouver Island north to Brooks Peninsula. Active safety committees are maintained and the area is highly organized—1959 was our best year.

NO FATALITIES

"No fatalities were experienced in the mills. There were two fatalities in logging, both in small woods operations, one of which is a combined logging-mining operation. Accident frequency and severity rates are below all previous years. This alone should prove the fallacy of Mr. Wick's statement.

"Successful safety programs are a three-party proposition, involving union, management and government. Mr. Wicks, from his high office, can be of immeasurable assistance or of considerable hindrance in any industry safety program.

"Apparently for 1960 he has chosen to be a hindrance. His irresponsible statements should rest heavy on his conscience."

Labor Demand

Wicks Won't Quit 'No Sir!', He Says

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks yesterday refused to resign, as demanded Wednesday by the Victoria Labor Council because of his statements that increased industrial fatalities in 1959 were caused by a breakdown in the IWA safety program.

"It will be a poor day when I am not called upon to resign. No, I don't think I will. No sir," Mr. Wicks said.

He said the industrial death picture was "too tragic and too serious a thing to get into the realm of politics" and called upon all sides in the industry to get together and do something immediately to remedy the situation.

Mr. Wicks produced figures to show the increase was not mainly in the gyppo logging outfits of the interior as had been suggested.

In 1958, he said, there were 25 fatalities in the Vancouver Island and coastal logging areas including the Queen Charlottes and Fraser Valley as far as Hope.

Last year there were 50, he said.

In the rest of the province there were 20 in 1958 and 25 last year.

"This does not weaken my argument that the fact is the highest fatality rate is taking place in the area where there is the highest degree of safety management," he said.

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault yesterday charged that "Labor Minister Wicks' attempt to blame an increase in logging industry fatalities on the IWA is thoroughly unwarranted and unpardonable and without a shred of evidence.

"The minister of the Crown has attempted to make political capital of the tragic deaths of 76 men in the logging industry. Such a charge made without authority is completely unworthy of a government minister," Mr. Perrault said.

Fresh Feed Daily For Island

Brackman-Ker Milling Company of New Westminster and Canadian Pacific Steamships Company have announced a joint program to provide fresh bulk feed daily from the mainland to Vancouver Island farmers.

The feed will be manufactured by the Brackman-Ker night shift. Two 12-ton trucks will provide the daily shuttle service from New Westminster to anywhere on Vancouver Island, travelling on CPR boats.

The trucks are equipped to haul either bulk or sacked feed, or a combined load of each. Loaded trucks will be delivered to the CPR ferry dock daily where empty trucks will be picked up and returned to the manufacturing plant.

Polio Victim to Lead Mothers' March Drive

One of the founders of the League of the Handicapped in Victoria has been named to lead 3,000 canvassers in the 1960 Mothers March campaign for the B.C. Foundation for Child Care, Poliomyelitis and Rehabilitation.

Mrs. Keith Vinden, herself a victim of polio, was named head of the Victoria canvassers yesterday for the march Jan. 30 at 7 p.m. Objective of this year's drive is $325,000.

"The increase in polio cases in the provice (more than 100 cases in 1959) and the need for a province-wide polio vaccine program make this march the most important campaign to date," said Robert Harvey, Victoria representative of the foundation, in announcing the appointment.

"Our objective this year is $325,000, and we need every cent to continue the foundation's comprehensive program of research, education and treatment service."

Mrs. Vinden is a former volunteer worker with the foundation in Vancouver. In addition to founding the city branch of the League of the Handicapped, she helped organize the store which later developed into Goodwill Enterprises, and started the Multiple Sclerosis Auxiliary.

Progress Since Oct. 17?

Pacific-Based Sub Appears Step Nearer

Canada yesterday appeared a step closer to having a submarine based on the Pacific coast.

But Defence Minister George Pearkes refused to comment on a Washington report that Canada is negotiating for the purchase or the loan of a submarine.

The Washington report came three months after Mr. Pearkes had hinted the same thing in Victoria, October 17.

At present the Pacific Command of the RCN has no submarine on its strength. Anti-submarine exercises are carried out in co-operation with the United States Navy.

Esquimalt-based destroyer escorts, HMCS Margaree and Fraser left yesterday for a month-long training cruise to the Hawaiian Islands, which will include anti-submarine warfare exercises with USN destroyer groups.

On the way to Hilo, on the island of Hawaii, the ships will carry out anti-aircraft and surface firing exercises. After a three-day stopover at Pearl Harbor, the two ships will meet the U.S. destroyers.

Pacific Command spokesmen last night refused to comment on the reports from Washington.

Oct. 17 Mr. Pearkes hinted that the Pacific Command might soon be operating one or two submarines.

"We hope to be able to increase facilities for anti-submarine training on this coast," he told a news conference.

"But," he added, "that doesn't mean that we are negotiating to purchase an atomic submarine or anything like that."

Confusing Plane Crash

Even the Firemen Got Lost in Fog

LONDON (UPI)—If it was not the worst fog anybody had seen in years it was the most unexpected, and it led to one of the most confusing crash-landings in years.

All 59 persons aboard escaped a fiery death when a British Viscount airliner crash-landed and caught fire at London Airport last night on a flight from Dublin. All 59 promptly got lost in the fog and so did rescue vehicles.

The 54 pasengers and five crewmen fled the burning plane and immediately became lost in the fog which got thicker every minute.

A Ministry of Civil Aviation official said the airport fire brigade suffered "an unfortunate delay" when their fire-trucks became lost in the fog.

The flaming plane gave fog-bound rescuers their first definite landmark, but even then the firemen couldn't find the water hydrants in the fog. Airline officials said the $1,120,000 aircraft was a total loss.

But no one appeared as annoyed as one pasenger, Mrs. Trixie Prestcott.

"There was this horrible lurch and my gin and tonic fell on the floor," she said. "I was furious."

Thrill-Seeking Boys Try Laundry Dryer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three youngsters looking for a thrill thought up a new pastime Wednesday—riding in a whirling laundry dryer. A frantic woman called police to report that the three boys, about 10 years old, were dropping dimes in a laundromat dryer and going for spins.

All Hands Stealing From U.S. Business

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UPI) — Crooked executives, supervisors and workers will continue to steal American business blind in 1960, a New York management engineer, said Thursday.

Norman Jaspan told the Controllers Institute of America that "management will continue to lose its battle against internal dishonesty" this year.

Jaspan said 250c firms will go to the wall because of thefts by officers or workers. Employees will steal more than $4,000,000 a day. Most of it will be stolen by executives and supervisors rather than ordinary workers.

Most of the losses will be so carefully hidden in the books of the companies involved they never will be discovered.

On top of the thefts, the kickback racket will take a further toll of $5,000,000,000 from business in 1960. Jaspan said stealing and payola cost business so much that if they could be eliminated the general price level of goods could be cut by 15 per cent.

B.C. Firms Raise Howl In Alberta Gas Deal

VANCOUVER (CP) — An Alberta application to export natural gas to California and the British Columbia government's apparent lack of inclination to oppose it — have raised howls of protest from gas interests and opposition political parties here.

They feel success of the Alberta and Southern Gas Company's application to the National Energy Board to export 458,750 cubic feet of natural gas daily will hurt northern B.C. development plans and future markets for B.C. gas.

Latest protest against the move was made by Island Transmission Company Ltd., which said it has filed a protest with the board. The company is one of two competing for the right to build an underwater pipeline to Vancouver Island from the mainland.

President Richard M. Bond said a proper gas supply for the Island should be arranged before additional gas is exported from Canada.

The provincial Progressive Conservative party also added its voice to the protests. Leader Deane Finlayson said the Social Credit government is allowing Alberta to steal B.C.'s market.

"We have huge quantities of gas in the Peace River area and a pipeline to the U.S. border operating at only 50 per cent of its capacity. B.C. should say to Alberta: 'Don't hog the whole pie; keep out of our territory.'"

B.C. Liberal leader Ray Perrault urged the provincial government to make representations on the application.

"We are not going to influence the decision of the board by absenting ourselves from the hearings," he said.

The Alberta plan was protested earlier by the B.C. Yukon Chamber of Mines, which believes it will threaten northern expansion.

B.C. Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan says B.C. has no grounds to protest the application.

Premier Bennett said in an interview that B.C. will not oppose the application.

"I don't think all markets of the United States belong to British Columbia," he said. "We have to think as Canadians. There is no room for the narrow viewpoint of pitting province against province . . . the government of B.C. wants a prosperious Alberta."

He Tapped a Fortune And Created a Lake

EIGENBILZEN, Belgium (Reuters) — A gigantic gasoline-pinching plan has squirted up in the face of a laborer here who saw a way to make his fortune by tapping the pipeline which supplies the British forces in Germany.

He tapped it all right. But the pressure was so great it sent gas squirting sky high.

The laborer couldn't stop it and 6,000 gallons spread itself over the countryside in three days before any one could.

Mystics Wrong

'Dead' Son Mails Card

KAMLOOPS (CP) — The parents of a missing 15-year-old boy have received a Christmas card from him after being told by two Indian mystics that their son is dead.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Claudepierre got the card Wednesday from their son Holgar, missing since he left home on a shopping trip to a local supermarket Nov. 12. The letter, postmarked Boston Bar, B.C., contained a note saying he was well and looking for a job.

RCMP checked the handwriting and confirmed it was that of the missing youth, Holgard.

Mr. and Mrs. Claudepierre had earlier consulted Indian Chief August Jack Khantsahlano, 93, of North Vancouver, and another Indian medicine man, Harry White, 72, of Lytton. Each meditated on the problem and decided the boy had been drowned.

Old Paintings To Be Examined

WINNIPEG (CP) — Three old paintings found in the basement of the Brandon court house Wednesday will be examined by an expert for value and the state of preservation, a spokesman for the Manitoba public works department said yesterday.

Cuban Editor Defies Castro

HAVANA (UPI) — A U.S.-educated Cuban editor yesterday challenged the government's definition of press freedom in a blistering front page editorial regarded as one of the most forthright attacks against the regime since it took office a year ago.

In an editorial titled "Enjoying Liberty," Jorge Zayas, youthful, Columbia University-educated editor of Avance and a member of the freedom of the press committee of the Inter American Press Association, said, among other things:

"One can easily prove that absolute freedom of expression exists in Cuba simply by reading all the insults, vexations and gross statements launched in unison by the official press against those who dare to dissent . . .

"There is also absolute liberty of action, for not in 400 or more years have the people enjoyed (the right) to usurp the lands of the Siboneys (the Indians who settled Cuba) . . ."

"Minute groups in various villages with their government cards in their pockets burn Cuban and foreign newspapers without either the collegium or the prime minister or local authorities interfering . . .

"We also have liberty of thought . . . in Cuba you can think like the leader of the revolution or you can be labelled a counter-revolutionary . . ."

Czar's Daughter?

Expert Backs Royal Claim

By HANS G. FREITAG

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) —A leading German anthropologist said Thursday he is virtually certain that Anastasia, youngest daughter of the last Russian Czar escaped a Bolshevik firing squad more than 40 years ago and is alive in West Germany.

Professor Otto Reche said he has informed a Hamburg court of his opinion that Mrs. Anna Anderson is right in contending that she is the sole surviving child of Czar Nicholas II.

Reche also said that anthropological evidence disproves the claim by the German royal house of Hesse which says that Mrs. Anderson is actually a Polish farm worker, Franziska Schanzkowski.

But, asserted Reche, all these results were wrong. He listed these reasons:

1. Photographs of the young Anastasia and of Mrs. Anderson could not be accepted as evidence against her because of the development of photographic techniques.

2. Previous expert opinions were based on the study of only a few characteristics while his findings are the result of the study of about 100 different points.

3. Previous experts failed to consider the natural changes caused by age in a woman.

Reche said that his studies of fingerprints, eyes, face, nose, hands and ears offered "a number of definite clues" to Mrs. Anderson's relation with the Czar's family.

Vancouver Harbor Packed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver harbor was jammed beyond capacity Thursday as 32 ships filled all available berths and another seven waited to get in. Shipping agents found difficulty in getting enough dock workers to load and unload ships.

Seventeen of the 39 ships are here to load grain.

PGE Freight Cars Go Off the Rails

VANCOUVER (CP) — Thirteen cars of a southbound 21-car Pacific Great Eastern Railway freight were derailed Wednesday night near Hixon, between Prince George and Quesnel.

The railway said precautions are being taken to prevent explosion of butane gas in one of the derailed cars. They said, because of below freezing weather, there is little danger of explosion.

An official of the government-owned line said there were no injuries and the cause of the derailment of the cars in the middle of the train near midnight is not known.

He said it also is not known whether the tank car carrying the butane is leaking because of the accident.

Routine precautions were being taken, including keeping all traffic away from the area.

Belgian Youths in Canada Due for Call-Up in 1962

Belgian citizens born in 1942 will be called up for military service with the call-up of 1962, according to a bulletin from the consul-general of Belgium.

Postponements and exemptions can be granted in various cases to Belgian citizens who are residents of Canada, with special provisions for those who are applying for Canadian citizenship.

All Belgian citizens born before or during 1942 who are liable to military duty should obtain full particulars from the nearest Belgian consular office, the bulletin advises. Applications for postponement and exemptions should reach Belgian authorities by the end of this month.

Nearest consular office is Room 1432, Marine Building, Vancouver.

'More Than Anything Else' Victoria Needs Auditorium, Says Mayor

An auditorium is needed "perhaps more than anything else" by Victoria to increase its visitor-trade, Mayor Percy Scurrah said yesterday.

The mayor and most of the aldermen were guests of the Rotary Club at luncheon, a custom of the club at the beginning of the year.

In his opinion, Mayor Scurrah said, the future of Victoria lies in being a residential and tourist centre.

But to attract visitors despite increasing competition from all parts of the world, he said, "we must have increased facilities."

Modern auditoriums are being built in all parts of the continent, he noted, and "in order to have some definite figures, I am appointing a committee with the idea of obtaining recommendations on such things as location, size, cost, facilities—all the information necessary."

Premier Bennett has said the province will contribute toward the cost, he added—"If he would tell us how much, that would help us plan the financing."

Mayor Scurrah's other major topic was the need for off-street parking in downtown Victoria.

To him, he said, "it is absolutely essential that the downtown area be maintained in a healthy condition for shopping. . . . If the assessment decreases, there is only one place to put the (tax) load, on the home, and to me that is something that must be avoided at all costs."

He said the parking building proposed on View would provide "more than 1,000 extra parking spaces a day" and that if the owner of a parking lot "not too far away" could be persuaded to put up a similar building, off-street parking in that part of the downtown business district would be well taken care of.

Revenue from the building and extra revenue from parking meters at five cents for half an hour undoubtedly would take care of the cost of the building, he said, but legislation is being sought which would enable only downtown property to stand behind it in taxation if necessary.

New Wholesale Rate

Water Bill Boost Can Be Expected

More Income Needed For Sooke Lake Tunnel

Greater Victorians—particularly residents of Victoria city—can expect to see their water bills rise soon.

A new wholesale water rate to the Greater Victoria municipalities will be set by the Greater Victoria water board before the end of this month. Present rate is 10 cents a thousand gallons, and the rate for the coming year is expected to be set one or two cents higher to enable the board to start paying for a water tunnel from Sooke Lake to Goldstream and a reservoir on Mount Tolmie.

QUITE SURE

Mayor Percy Scurrah said yesterday he is "quite sure" the wholesale rate increase will be that much.

On top of the wholesale rate increase and the consequent rise in the municipalities' retail rates, the city water commissioner has been instructed to revise the city rates to boost a dwindling rate of return on the city's own waterworks operations.

BREAK EVEN

"If the rates are not revised, we may only break even next year," City Comptroller Dennis Young said in November.

The commissioner, City Engineer James Garnett, said yesterday he hopes to report to public works committee in about two weeks on proposed rate increases.

ONLY FIRST

This year's increases are expected to be only the first of several in the next few years. Capital outlays planned by the board may require the present wholesale rate to be nearly doubled by 1964, officials have estimated.

Condition Good

Hit by Car Little Girl Breaks Leg

Four-year-old Gwennyd Cambrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cambrey, 1185 Reynolds, was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital in Saanich fire department ambulance during the noon hour yesterday, after an accident near her home.

The child suffered a broken right leg when she ran from behind a parked car into the path of a vehicle driven by Alfred Henry Adrian, 3969 Cedar Hill Crossroad, police said.

Her condition at hospital was reported to be satisfactory.

Quake Felt 123 Miles From Here

The Dominion Astrophysical Observatory recorded a minor earthquake at 1.16 a.m. yesterday about 123 miles from Victoria.

The quake was later reported centred in Washington's Lewis county and was felt throughout the western part of the state. No damage or injuries were reported.

Bingo Winner

First-time winner after scores of contests, Mrs. Ralph Cooper, 430 Forward Drive, hit the jackpot to the tune of $600 last night at the Optimist Club of Victoria bingo game. She was presented the cheque by club president Bill Cathro.

Boy Cuts Left Leg In Fall on Knife

David Twyman, 14, of 1704 St. Ann, last night suffered a cut to the left leg when he fell off his bicycle onto the blade of a hunting knife which he had been carrying.

The boy, found lying in the grass at 8 p.m. by a resident of the 900 block Maddison, was taken by police ambulance to Royal Jubilee Hospital where he received several stitches for the wound.

Tisdalle's Opinion

Ferry Starts, Goes Nowhere

Saanich MLA John Tisdalle last night compared the Mill Bay ferry with the PGE railway when the line started at Squamish and ended at Quesnel—"it starts nowhere and goes nowhere."

He said he is a strong advocate of moving the ferry route further north with its eastern terminus "as close to Swartz Bay as possible."

He said he was not in a position to say whether the department of highways would order a more northerly route this year to tie in with the provincial ferry service which will run to the B.C. mainland from Swartz Bay, but knew that government engineers favor such a shift.

The ferry at present runs from Mill Bay to Brentwood and a government official indicated a few days ago that its route might be changed to Cherry Point to Deep Cove.

Assessment Rolls

$6,000,000 Hike Shown in Saanich

Saanich, Greater Victoria's fastest growing municipality, will show an increase of slightly more than $6,000,000 on its 1960 assessment rolls.

A Saanich assessment official said yesterday that only an "extremely small percentage" of the increase is a result of upward reassessment in one part of the municipality and that most is the result of new construction.

On the basis of last year's tax mill rate the new assessment total would bring the municipality about $165,000 more in tax revenues this year.

But the 1960 mill rate has not yet been set and Saanich Reeve George Chatterton is not too optimistic that the municipality can hold the line on the municipal share of the tax levy.

Last year's mill rate for municipal purposes was 18.3 mills. "We might just be able to hold it, but it is really too early to make more than a guess," the reeve said.

Saanich issued building permits covering some $11,000,000 worth of new construction last year and the assessment increase is largely attributable to this source, the assessment office said.

Total land assessment of $11,858,583 in 1959 increased to $12,232,478 in 1960, while assessments on buildings rose from $64,512,970 last year to $70,739,990 this year.

Improved Holiday Scale

Victoria Police Ask 17 Per Cent Raise

Seek Parity With Forces On Coast

Victoria city police are asking for a 17 per cent wage increase for all ranks and an improved holiday scale in contract negotiations just opened with the city's police commission, it was learned yesterday.

Their objective in both requests was described as parity with other police forces, particularly on the west coast.

The 17 per cent increase asked by policemen would add an estimated $70,000 to the present wage bill, slightly in excess of $400,000.

$408 A MONTH

At present a first-class constable in Victoria earns $408 a month; a sergeant, $453.

Comparative present figures for other municipalities, where available, are:

Vancouver, $451 and $511; New Westminster, $435 and $494; Esquimalt (with a combined police-fire department) $415 and $461; Saanich, $400 and $444; Oak Bay, $398 and $443. First-class constables in West Vancouver earn $420.

HOLIDAY ISSUE

On the holiday issue, the police union is asking for two weeks' holiday after from one to five years' service; three weeks from six to 15 years, and from 15 years on, four weeks.

At present, city police get two weeks' holiday for the first 10 years of service, and after that three weeks.

Representatives of the police union placed these and other contract requests before the commission this week, and negotiation meetings will follow.

'Nicest Present Ever'

A Christmas parcel in the form of an eight-pound nine-ounce baby boy was a little late for Dec. 25 yesterday, but born right on the dot for Ukrainian Christmas Day. Parents Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Onischuk, 4702 West Saanich, agreed "he is the nicest present ever." Mr. Onischuk's parents were both born in the Ukraine. —(Colonist photo.)

B.C. Court of Appeal Sittings Open Monday

Sittings of the B.C. Court of Appeal will open Monday at 11 a.m. in the courthouse.

So far, 15 civil appeals are slated for hearing in the new term.

Nearly Ready

'Flying Fire Engine' Takes to Air Soon

World's largest "flying fire engine" will take to the air from the waters of Saanich Inlet on its maiden flight in about three weeks, an official of Fairey Aviation said yesterday.

Water tanks which will give the plane a 7,000-gallon forest fire extinguishing capacity are nearing completion at the company's Patricia Bay Airport plant.

The tanks will be installed into the world's largest flying boat—an ex-U.S. Navy Martin Mars, one of four purchased last year by Forest Industries Flying Tankers Ltd.

If evaluation tests of the first converted flying tanker are successful, the remaining three planes will be converted to form a fire-fighting fleet unique throughout the world.

Costs $10 Fine

DUNCAN—R. B. Green of Victoria was fined $10 yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of crashing a red light Monday at Trunk Road and the Trans-Canada Highway.

'Wonderful'

Blood Flows Freely

A "wonderful effort" by Victoria residents yesterday at the Victoria Red Cross blood drive netted 314 pints of blood for the Red Cross Blood Bank.

Mrs. Ralph Thistle, secretary of the Blood Donor Panel, said last night "many of the regular donors turned up and there were lots of new ones."

Yesterday's donations brought the total of the three-day drive to 648 pints. Next drive will be held Feb. 2, 3 and 4 at Red Cross House, 1046 Fort Street.

Big Section of City Plunged Into Dark

Streets in a wide section of the southeastern part of the city were plunged into darkness last night when a mercury light at the corner of Cook and Yates short-circuited.

In darkness from nightfall until shortly before 10 p.m. was an area bounded on the north by Fort, on the south by Richardson, on the east by Foul Bay and on the west by Cook.

A city street lighting crew, called out about 8.15 p.m., worked from light standard to light standard in a process of elimination, a city street lighting spokesman said.

Last night's blackout was widespread because the short-circuit was at a main source of power supply. Only three or four blocks are normally affected by a short-circuit farther away from a main power source, the spokesman said.

Bylaw Goes to Council

Ald. Wilson's Efforts Can't Curb Curfew

Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson tried in vain yesterday to convince the other two members of city council welfare committee that a proposed new curfew bylaw is "too nebulous" and "unworkable."

Aldermen M. H. Mooney and Elmer McEwen voted to send it to council in its present form, which is in line with the wording of the Municipal Act.

In one place it requires children under 16 to be in their homes after 9.30 p.m. and in another place refers to them not being on the streets without proper guardianship after that time.

The reference to their being off the streets, Ald. Wilson maintained, would enable a child to "hop into a coffee shop or onto a parking lot or second-hand car lot and flap his ears at the police and tell them to go sell their papers somewhere else."

But Ald. Mooney held that the law shouldn't be made too strict. He said it was workable in the present form, and if made more severe could be a hardship on youngsters outdoors for legitimate reasons. And Ald. McEwen claimed children today were "100 per cent" and "100 times" better than they were five years ago, and the bylaw was "perfectly all right."

Revision Nearly Complete Of Justice of Peace List

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday that revision of the list of justices of the peace in B.C. is virtually completed.

Some 300 justices of the peace are now active in their appointments, he said. Last previous revision was in 1923 and until it was revised recently the list contained 600 names.

Health Improving

Chant Won't Drop Out If Campbell Is Running

Public Works Minister Chant said yesterday he has no intion of dropping out of politics, "particularly when I see Campbell (Clive Campbell, former deputy minister of public works, who was fired by Mr. Chant) is running.

"It is interesting to note he has made up his mind, although it was not unexpected," Mr. Chant said.

"I will be right in there running," he added.

It has been speculated that Mr. Chant might not seek another term because of ill health. "I have been much better recently," he said yesterday.

If Mr. Campbell wins the Progressive Conservative nomination he seeks he will run in the Victoria riding against Mr. Chant.

Stolen Cache of Liquor Found on Railway Track

A cache of liquor which had been stolen a short while earlier from a boxcar on a railway siding, was found beside a railway track at 8.40 p.m. yesterday by an E & N crew.

Railway employees re-sealed the liquor car after hauling back two cases of ale, one case of gin, one case of wine and one case of rye.

Big Night Class Listing Finished by Weekend

Greater Victoria school board's all-time record night class enrolment of some 4,500 persons attending the 1959-60 series of courses will be complete by the end of this week, principal Allan Batey said yesterday.

"Our enrolment so far represents a 25 per cent increase over last year and surpasses our original expectations," Mr. Batey said.

A second term of about a dozen 10-week courses was started each night this week and final enrolment will not be known until the last class has held its first session, said the principal.

Courses starting this week include charm and modelling, driver training, gardening, leathercraft, copper tooling, photography, golf, nature study and handwriting analysis.

What's Cooking!

Liver Important In Balanced Meal

By LOUISE MOORE

In a nutritionally balanced meal, liver plays an important role and when it is served with sour cream gravy, it will be enjoyed all the more.

LIVER IN SOUR CREAM GRAVY

Cover 1 pound of beef liver thinly sliced with boiling water and let stand five minutes. Drain thoroughly. Remove any skin and tubing. Place in paper bag, 3 tblsp. flour, 1 tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. each pepper and paprika and ⅛ tsp. mace. Drop in the pieces of liver and shake vigorously until every piece is evenly coated with the mixture. Heat ¼ cup bacon drippings in frying pan and brown liver quickly one side then the other. Do not overcook.

Remove liver to heated platter and keep warm. Empty remaining flour from bag in which liver was coated and stir into fat in frying pan. Stir and add 1-3 ounce can of sliced, broiled mushrooms and ½ cup thick sour cream. Bring just to boil very slowly, stirring constantly. Pour over liver and garnish platter with buttered noodles sprinkled with chopped parsley or flecked with paprika; or mashed potatoes if preferred. Add a green vegetable such as spinach mold or green beans julienne; for dessert we favor this scrumptious

STEWED FRESH PEARS WITH SABAYON SAUCE

Peel 3 large pears, core and halve. Cook slowly in 1 pint water combined with ½ cup sugar and juice of 1 lemon. Let simmer 20 minutes; remove pears from juice and chill thoroughly.

To make the Sabayon sauce, break 3 whole eggs and add ½ cup sugar in top of double boiler over hot water. Remove mixture when it is hot, beat until light and firm. Add rum to taste and fold in ½ cup whipped cream. Serve over chilled pears.

With so many fresh fruits on the market a fruit compote is a good choice and good for you too.

FRUIT COMPOTE

Simply take whatever fruit you wish such as peaches, cherries, berries, halved apricots, pears, plums, etc.; peel or wash as necessary; make a syrup using 2 cups of water to 1 cup of sugar and boiling it 5 minutes. Pour this hot syrup over a mixture of fruits of your choosing. Cover at once to prevent the delicate aroma of the fruits from escaping. Cool and then refrigerate until serving time.

Tips for Parents

Grandaddy's Story Gateway to Past

By EDITH HENRY

Youngsters and oldsters—far apart in age—have yet much to contribute to the happiness of each other. They can be friends.

"Grandaddy, tell me about when you were a little boy," is no idle request.

CRAVING

It comes from a child craving the companionship of one who has time to spare for stories and the gift of telling them.

Out of these "when I was a little boy" stories the child begins to realize time, not only in hours and days, but as it extends into the past. His grandfather's experiences are for him a natural gateway into history.

The relationship, so far apart in years has more still to offer. The child senses a code of behavior belonging to another generation.

ABSORBS CODE

Unconsciously he assimilates part of this code into the moral structure he himself is building.

"Grandaddy expects me to be very brave, very courageous, very honest," he starts to say.

LIKE ENTHUSIASM

Older children are ready to meet elderly grown-ups outside the family. They like best those possessed by enthusiasm.

There was the old sea captain with his collection of shells gathered from all over the world. Geography lessons flowed from his lips as easily as his yarns of adventure.

LESSONS EXCITING

There was the neighbor who had travelled to France, and because of his interest in fruit trees, had brought back the idea of growing fruit on miniature trees.

His science lessons were so exciting that it was hard to wait for next season to see their results.

Enthusiasms can be feminine, too, and relate to the home-making arts.

"I'll help you make a dress for yourself." This remark to a twelve-year-old from an elderly woman started a hobby and a friendship, both of them lasting.

We can encourage these relationships which bridge the years. For the child they lack the strain of competition, of quarreling, fighting and teasing. They are easy and relaxed, an area where a child can feel safe. For an older person they add variety and interest to a period of life which tends to become monotonous.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: I guess I'm one of those "frigid" wives your column referred to recently. May I tell you why?

My husband's love-making is so impersonal I feel it's not ME he wants—any woman handy might do just as well. (And we're supposed to be respectable and happily married!)

To the outside world he's charming, immaculate and beautifully mannered. The girls in his office sigh when he glances at them over his sexy horn-rimmed glasses. But at home it's another story.

He slurps his soup, stuffs bread into his mouth, reads business reports at the dinner table and douses his cigaret in the water glass. After dinner he buries his nose in the paper or reads trade journals until bed time. When he turns the light out he expects me to light up like a torch.

I'm not a machine, I'm a mere human. Do you blame me for being—UNRESPONSIVE.

Tell Your Husband

Dear Unresponsive: What good does it do to fix the blame? Surely you have a point and I hear from many women who have the same problem, but lying in bed at night filled with anger and disappointment, and nurturing valid reasons for being unresponsive doesn't solve anything.

If you women would tell your husband in the same articulate language, the things you tell ME, it might be a good start to getting the marriage back on the track.

And when I advise you to see a marriage counsellor, it's not a convenient escape hatch for me—it's a sensible suggestion which could produce a solution. A professional third party who can view the situation objectively can often prescribe medication for that sick marriage. It's certainly worth the try.

Daughter Lied

Dear Ann: Our 14-year-old daughter lied to us. She said she and her girl friend were going to the school's downtown art and science exhibit. Instead they went to an "adults only" movie. A neighbor told us she saw Linda in the theatre, painted up like a hussy and wearing hanging earrings in an attempt to look older. I was humiliated.

When I confronted Linda with the information she didn't deny it. I want to take away her weekly allowance of $2.50 for one month. Her father does not go along with this. Your advice?—P.D.Q.

Dear P.D.Q.: I agree with your husband. An allowance should not be withheld as punishment and used as a club to keep the child in line.

A more meaningful and equitable punishment would be to take away Linda's movie privileges for a month.

Voter Sits Out

Dear Ann: I won't tell you whether I'm a Republican or a Democrat. I'll just say I'm an American who is fed up with both parties. In my opinion neither one has a first-rate candidate for the presidency.

I've examined all the possible candidates and have just about decided to sit the next one out. In my opinion this is an effective way to voice my disapproval. My wife says I'm nutty and to write and you'll tell me why. I never expect to see this letter in print because I'm sure you can't answer it intelligently.—PASSING IN '60.

Dear Passing: A voter who "sits it out" doesn't voice anything. He merely abdicates his responsibility.

Be realistic. SOMEBODY is going to be elected. Although you don't like any of the prospective candidates you cannot DISLIKE each of them equally. Vote for the one you dislike the least and don't be a sorehead.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Peace Plan Wins Trip

NEW YORK (UPI)—Janet Mary Adams, one of our British cousins, has a plan to achieve peace in these times.

The Lancashire lass, 18, spelled out her plan in an essay. For her efforts, she won a trip to the United States for the holidays.

Miss Adams, a "junior ambassador," represented Great Britain at the recent New York world premiere of "On The Beach." That was her official duty as a winner of the Plan-For-Peace essay contest conducted by Britain's Empire News and Sunday Chronicle.

"My philosophy of peace," the pretty brunette said, "could lead man out of his present fear and confusion.

"The aim is universal peace of mind which, though not an end in itself would create that medium of tranquility in which, our mental faculties can make most progress.

ST. SAVIOUR'S

Proper Storage Essential for Fur

By EDNA BLAKELY

TORONTO (CP)—It's better to wear a fur coat than to leave it hanging in a dry cupboard.

"Water and snow won't harm a fur coat," says Toronto furrier, Svend—he uses only his Christian name—who learned about furs in his native city, Copenhagen, and who has been in the fur business in Canada for 31 years.

The wet coat should be put on a hanger away from direct heat, and left to dry. Long hair can be brushed, or even gently combed.

Proper storage is essential for longevity of a fur coat, he says. A cool basement can turn out to be the worst spot for a coat.

"The basement may be damp and the dampness will rot the leather," Mr. Svend explained.

Storing small bits of fur in the refrigerator can also be injurious to the pelts. The extreme coldness of a refrigerator creates dampness.

Proper cold storage vaults are kept at just below freezing and are frequently aired out, he explained.

"Women wear their coats now. We don't keep our good things for Sunday now, we live while we're alive," he said.

Mink, once worn by a few, now is one of the biggest sellers in furs. Fox has become one of the furs for dress occasions.

"And I must mention ermine which is one of the loveliest of furs and the most flattering," Mr. Svend said. "For evening wear it makes a beautiful garment but it can still look appropriate in the daytime."

When Mr. Svend was establishing his business here, he found that nearly all sales would be of one type of fur—the type that happened to be the fashion for that year.

"It's not that way any more. Now it's liable to be anything that a customer asks for," he said.

"Age doesn't matter any more either. Certain furs, such as Alaska seal and black Persian lamb used to be branded as 'old ladies' furs.' Today, young girls are wearing high styled black Persian lamb furs and seal coats and the older women are wearing coats with more youthful styling."

John Wood To Address Club Jan. 13

"Berlin—Between East and West" is subject of an address to be given at Women's Canadian Club, Wednesday, Jan. 13, at 2.30 p.m., in the Empress Hotel.

Guest speaker will be John Wood, member of the staff of Victoria College.

Mr. Wood took undergraduate work at Cambridge University and graduate work at University of Paris. He received his honors BA and his MA at Cambridge in modern languages and literature.

He has taught in summer school at University of Paris; in the University of British Columbia, Department of Extension and in September, 1959, joined the staff of Victoria College.

He was a foreign service officer from 1941 to 1956 and received the Order of the British Empire in 1954.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Smith, 1829 Ferndale Road, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Dolores Maureen, to Mr. Roderick Rithet Skillings, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Skillings, 3366 Cedar Hill Road. Wedding will take place Feb. 13 at 7.30 p.m. in the First United Church with Rev. A. I. Higgins officiating. —(Photo by Draper.)

Alexandra Ousts Margaret

Top 12 Given Equal Footing By Fashion Experts of 1960

NEW YORK (UPI) — Top fashion experts dropped Princess Margaret in favor of her junior cousin Alexandra on the annual roster of best-dressed women today.

The Best Dressed Woman, they decided, is dead!

She was swept away today by the top fashion experts who help the New York Couture Group Inc. get out its annual "Best Dressed" list.

Instead of listing this planet's most fashionable females from No. 1 to No. 12 as in previous years, the couture group gave the Big Dozen of 1959 equal footing and alphabetically listing.

"The advisory committee recommended this change because they felt that anyone who is elected to the list of the top 12 has reached the level of everybody else," explained couture group spokesman Eleanor Lambert.

The women elected to the list by the vote of 2,500 fashion and society editors, designers and socialites throughout the world include six Americans, two British, two French, an Italian and a Brazilian.

Princess Alexandra of Kent, the British royal family's new glamor girl, made her first appearance on the list, crowding out her cousin, Princess Margaret.

NEW TO LIST

Others new to the list were Mrs. John Barry Ryan III of New York, Mexican-born Mrs. Loel Guinness of the Irish stout-brewing family, Donna Marella Agnelli of Turin's Fiat car manufacturing family, Mme. Herve Alphand of Paris and Mrs. Walther de Moreira Salles of Rio de Janeiro. The latter two are the wives of the French and Brazilian ambassadors to Washington.

Mrs. Ryan, who was former fashion editor Dorinda Dixon from Bristol, R.I., before she married a millionaire, said she thought she was a questionable selection for the couture group, an organization of clothing designers and manufacturers.

DESIGNER

"I design all of my own clothes and I have them made by little dressmakers who work by themselves," she said. "But I'm tremendously complimented to be named as one of the symbols of the many, many well-dressed women everywhere."

The repeaters on the 1959 list were Princess Grace of Monaco, actresses Audrey Hepburn and Merle Oberon, Mrs. Thomas M. Bancroft Jr. of New York social fame, Vicomtesse Jacqueline de Ribes of Paris, and Mrs. Norman K. Winston, a New York hostess who was born Rosita Halfpenny of Cherokee Indian ancestry in Oklahoma.

Four "regulars" on the lists of former years were retired to the Fashion Hall of Fame, which the couture group established in 1958 to make room for new-comers.

They are Mrs. Henry Ford II of Detroit, Mrs. William Randolph Hearst Jr. of New York, American-born Countess Rodolfo Crespi of Rome, and Mrs. Winston Guest, Boston's gift to New York and Palm Beach society. Countess Crespi and Mrs. Guest tied for best dressed woman in the world last year.

HALL OF FAME

They join eight other famous perennial members of the best-dressed list, who were elected to the Hall of Fame last year: The Duchess of Windsor, Mrs. William Paley, Countess Edward Von Bismarck the former Mrs. Harrison Williams, Queen Elizabeth, Mme. Jacques Balsan the former Consuelo Vanderbilt and actresses Mary Martin, Irene Dunne and Claudette Colbert.

Judge Understands Emotional Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Sterling Hayden, who defied a court order to take his children on a voyage to Tahiti, got off today with a suspended sentence.

Superior Judge Emil Gumpert called it "a regrettable and foolish violation of the court's order."

But, he said, "this court is not blind to forces which control human behaviour under emotionally charged circumstances."

Hayden had pleaded guilty to contempt of court.

His former wife, Betty, had sought to have the judge rule that Hayden was in contempt for each of 42 days of the South Seas cruise, which would have meant a maximum penalty of $21,000 in fines and 210 days in jail.

The judge ordered Hayden to serve five days in jail and pay a $500 fine, then suspended the sentence on condition the actor not remove the children from the state without the former wife's written consent.

Was Great Uncle Ben Eaten by Cannibals?

LONDON (AP) — Alan Lennox-Boyd is off to the south seas to find out, if he can, whether cannibals ate his uncle or just adopted him.

The question has long troubled the family of Lennox-Boyd who until last October was Britain's colonial secretary.

Lennox-Boyd and his wife, Lady Patricia, were seen off at London airport Wednesday by Julian Amery, the colonial undersecretary. Amery patted Lennox-Boyd on the shoulder and said:

"Have you heard about the Maori chief who claimed he was Scottish by absorption? Who knows, you may find some of your relatives out there."

The great uncle who is the centre of the mystery was red-haired Benjamin Boyd.

In the late 1840's, Boyd got the wanderlust. He bought a yacht called the Wanderer and set sail for the south seas.

On Oct. 15, 1851, the yacht was lying off the shore of one of the Solomon Islands. Benjamin armed himself with a shotgun, announced he was going to shoot pigeons and had a boat crew row him ashore.

That is the last positively known of Benjamin Boyd.

"One report said he was popped into a cooking pot by cannibals on the island—a somewhat sticky end," remarked Lennox-Boyd.

But there is another story which indicates a somewhat happier ending. Some 20 years after Boyd vanished, the crew of an Australian ship saw a red-haired white man running along the shore with a party of natives.

"Could this have been Great Uncle Ben?" mused Lennox-Boyd.

If the Cap Fits . . .

They made the kilt too long for Richard Sluggett, 13, and James Birtwhistle, 13, found his cap a trifle large, but Staff Sgt. James Hall is working on the problem, and soon the duo will be as nattily turned out as any Canadian Scottish Cadet. — (Colonist photo.)

Plane Lands Year Later

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—In its annual report, Mohawk Airlines states:

"Mohawk's 21 aircraft in 1959 made 55,990 takeoffs and 55,989 landings."

A New Year's Eve flight took off late in 1959 and arrived in 1960.

Scientists Bound For Alaska

A group of scientists from Nanaimo will sail from Esquimalt Monday aboard the frigate HMCS Beacon Hill to make an oceanographic study of sub-arctic waters off the Alaskan coast.

The voyage will last about a month and take the group to northern waters and then south to the vicinity of weather station Papa, some 800 miles off Cape Flattery.

Four other frigates leaving Esquimalt Monday are taking HMCS Venture officer cadets south on an extended training cruise.

HMC Ships Sussexvale, Ste. Therese, Antigonish and Stettler may go as far as South America.

Island MPs To Receive Mail Deluge

Lower Island MPs Hon. G. R. Pearkes and A. DeB. McPhillips may soon be prowling the halls of the capital seeking larger offices.

Victoria federal civil servants plan to deluge the pair with 20,000 letters stating the case of government employees for higher salaries.

And as though the letters wouldn't create enough of a problem by themselves, they must be carried postage free by the post office under the terms of a federal act which says constituents can mail stampless letters to their members for 10 days before a parliamentary session, all during the session and for 10 days afterwards.

The plan, announced yesterday by Gerry K. Sammon, chairman of the federal civil servants' Victoria joint action committee, is being taken up by federal employees throughout Canada.

Free Summer Trips Offered to Cadets

Shooting, swimming, and expense-paid trips to summer camp are being offered by the Victoria Canadian Scottish Regiment Cadet Corps as it begins its annual recruiting drive for boys 13 to 16 years old.

Training program for new recruits includes small bore shooting and rifle work on the ranges at Bay Street Armory, swimming and water safety, first aid and, of course, formal drill.

Some of the new members may qualify for the new junior leader courses being offered by the regiment next summer at Clear Lake, Man., and others compete to attend six-week summer camp at Vernon.

The corps meets Wednesday and Friday at the Armory. Further information may be obtained by phoning Capt. H. A. Davie, GR 9-4976.

Timber Importers to Tour

Soviet Union Looms As B.C.'s Competitor

Some 35 United Kingdom timber importers, engineers, architects and housing planners will tour Coast lumber operations here in June.

Trade Minister Robert Bonner said yesterday the tour will be sponsored by the provincial government and marks a concerted drive for the English market.

"The members have been nominated by Maj.-Gen. B. M. Hoffmeister, B.C. agent-general in London, as the men most likely to influence purchase in the United Kingdom," Mr. Bonner said.

PLYWOOD SALES

He said plywood sales in the U.K. are still good, but British Columbia is losing ground in its lumber sales and the Soviet Union is looming as B.C.'s biggest competitor.

The British Columbia Lumber Manufacturers' Association, the Plywood Association of British Columbia and allied groups have indicated full support of the tour and a schedule of industrial visits is now being planned to include all phases of the industry from woods operation through finished products application.

SHARP FALL

"In the past few years, sales of B.C. lumber to the U.K. have fallen sharply. In 1954 exports amounted to 705,853,000,000 feet. Estimated 1959 exports are 240,000,000,000 feet, a decrease of 66 per cent," Mr. Bonner said. "On the other hand sales of B.C. plywood to the U.K. have increased at an encouraging rate and have almost reached the high point of 1947 when exports reached 93,638,410 square feet."

PRICE A PROBLEM

Mr. Bonner noted that although B.C. lumber products in types and qualities have nothing to fear from European competition, every means possible will have to be taken to ensure our share of the U.K. market. Undoubtedly price has become a problem, Mr. Bonner said. "This is especially true in view of the formation of the Stockholm Group of seven trading nations, which includes Great Britain and timber producing Scandinavian countries," he said.

Big Tug Sent To Answer Distress Call

The Victoria-owned deep-sea tug Cambrian Salvor was dispatched yesterday from her home base of Yokohama to answer a distress call from a freighter in trouble about 700 miles off the coast of Japan.

The ship is Ss. Gambler, a Liberty-type vessel which was inbound for Japan. Exact cause of the breakdown is not known.

Cambrian Salvor left Yokohama at 3.30 a.m. Victoria time and is expected to reach the Gambler late Friday.

The tug is owned by Island Tug and Barge Ltd.

Woodworkers Re-Instated

VANCOUVER (CP) — The International Woodworkers of America announced that 18 men fired by Wilder Lumber Company Ltd. of Radium, B.C., for joining the union are to be re-instated.

IWA secretary George Mitchell said the company agreed at a labor relations board hearing to re-hire the employees immediately.

Impaired Driver Jailed 30 Days

Jail sentences totalling 30 days were handed down in city police court yesterday to a man who pleaded guilty to impaired driving, and driving while under suspension.

David Elay Strijack, HMCS Sagueany, was sentenced to 20 days on the first charge—it was a second offence—and to 10 days, not concurrent, on the second.

Police said Strijack struck a power pole near Stadacona on Fort Street at about 10.25 p.m. Dec. 23. Magistrate William Ostler told him a further recommendation regarding suspension of his licence would be made to the motor vehicle branch.

* * *

Also sentenced to 20 days for impaired driving was Stillman Guyette, 3042 Albina, who admitted a previous conviction in June, 1954. Court was told his car collided with two parked vehicles at 11.55 p.m. Jan. 6 on Michigan near Oswego.

In Saanich court yesterday Gordon Thomas Rabey, 19, of 887 Brett, was convicted of being a minor in possession of liquor, and fined $20.

Rabey, police said, was one of three people in a car checked Dec. 17 at 9.30 p.m.

Old Cards Buy Food For Hungry

Your old Christmas cards can mean food for desperately hungry children in India.

Used cards, sent to Caneffian Convent in India, are retouched and sold in that country, with proceeds used to feed the 400 orphans at the convent, Mrs. K. M. Stevens, a former resident of India now residing at the Old Charming Inn, explained yesterday.

She urged that Victorians tie their cards in bundles, and mark the packages "used Christmas cards for mission."

They should be sent to "Mother Vendramin, Caneffian Convent, Cherukunnu Post Office, Cannamore D.T. District, Kerala, South India."

Tasks Allotted To Councillors

Three new councillors and a police commissioner were sworn in at Central Saanich council meeting this week.

Councillors W. F. Grafton, P. F. Warren and R. M. Lamont, who gained office in Central Saanich by acclamation, took the oath along with police commissioner Victor Wood.

Council members chosen for committees during the half hour meeting were:

Public works: Coun. W. F. Grafton, Coun. Frank Grimshaw and Reeve H. R. Brown.

Finance: Coun. Gordon Lee, Coun. P. F. Warren and Coun. Mrs. Gladys Ronson.

Parks: Coun. R. M. Lamont, Coun. Mrs. Gladys Ronson and Coun. P. F. Warren.

Fire department: Coun. Frank Grimshaw, Coun. W. F. Grafton and Coun. Gordon Lee.

Bills Framed By Elworthy

Former Oak Bay councillor Geoffrey Ellis denied yesterday that it was he who framed the controversial bylaws to put Oak Bay's reeve and councillors on salary.

A Colonist report claimed Mr. Ellis framed the bills, which were actually framed by Coun. Gordon Elworthy and supported by Mr. Ellis. A notice of motion to have the bylaws revoked has been made by Coun. Alan Cox.

Nine-foot diameter steel penstocks, under construction at Bridge River #2 plant, were made by Vancouver Iron and Engineering Works and Dominion Bridge. Two 80,000 horsepower units commenced operation here in 1959; two more are scheduled for this year.

to expand your service

B.C. Electric building program calls for another $72 million in wages and materials in 1960

This year will see important progress in B.C. Electric's continuing program to bring more service to more people.

Crews will be hard at work on the final stages of the Bridge River hydro project, where two generating units were brought into service in 1959, and two more are now approaching completion.

Construction work on the giant Burrard steam generating plant near Ioco will continue through 1960, and the first 211,000 horsepower machine will begin producing power in 1961.

This flood of new energy must be delivered around the system, to serve customers in scores of communities and rural areas. This means more transmission lines, more distribution lines . . . work will be undertaken on about 300 miles in all next year. Substation capacity will also be added at 11 sites.

Many crews will be kept busy bringing electricity to new homes, extending power to new areas and piping natural gas to thousands of new customers. In all, about 200 miles of gas pipeline, new mains and service connections will be constructed.

This extensive program will provide continuing employment to help keep British Columbia's economy thriving. And looking to the future, these additions and improvements assure a plentiful supply of electricity and natural gas in years to come — to bring you better living, to encourage the growth of industry, to provide more jobs and greater prosperity.

Garden Notes

Get a Head Start

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

In our spring gardening operations, we have become accustomed to the idea of starting a lot of our plants indoors to get a jump on the season. Such subjects as tomatoes, cucumbers, squash and the like are seeded indoors or under glass, encouraging the plants to make stocky, sturdy growth so that by the time the outdoor soil has warmed up and all danger of frosts has passed, we have plants nicely established and well on their way to maturity.

It doesn't seem to be so generally understood that potatoes can be started indoors too. This isn't a messy job at all, as you don't have to plant the seed tubers in soil, and there are quite a lot of advantages to this business of pre-sprouting your early potatoes.

For one thing, you get a bigger and a much earlier crop, and what is probably even more important, you can spot defective and diseased tubers before they are planted, and discard them. Many a nasty epidemic of infectious potato disease has been nipped in the bud by keeping the seed tubers under observation during the sprouting period.

The easiest way to start seed potatoes into growth is simply to move them into the light. Arrange them in a shallow box or seed flat, setting them up on end with the most prominent eyes uppermost. This is the end of the potato farthest away from the plant that bore it, and you can often find the remains of its natal cord at the other end of the tuber.

Your tray of spuds needs no soil nor water, but they must have lots and lots of light, and cool, airy conditions. No attempt at forcing the eyes into sprouting should be made, either with heat or darkness, for the object here is not speed of growth, but the formation of short, sturdy shoots of a good green color, vastly different from the long, pallid shoots you get on potatoes stored in a too-warm basement.

An unheated greenhouse, coldframe or sun porch would be ideal for this pre-sprouting, as long as the spuds can be protected from actually freezing. If none of these facilities are available, you can keep your sprouting tray in a sunny window, and even move it outdoors during spells of balmy weather, bringing it indoors at night to escape frost and chilling.

★ ★ ★

Once the shoots have formed, it is a good idea to dig out with a sharp knife all except the two healthiest and sturdiest. By channelling all the energy from the seed tuber into just two shoots, you get a higher percentage of eating-size potatoes and fewer of those little golf-ball-size spuds, so infuriating to peel.

If you want to grow just a few super-duper specimens to impress the neighbors or to cop a blue ribbon at the horticulture shows, leave only one shoot — the strongest — and stake the foliage through the summer.

Late January and early February is a good time to start your seed potatoes sprouting, and the beauty of it is that you don't have to rush your tubers into the ground as soon as the shoots have formed. They make steady growth in their sprouting trays, and you lose no earliness by waiting for the soil to warm up and the weather to become settled.

Hedda's in Hollywood Sunday

"Produced by David Susskind" is a legend that is flashed on what seems like 10,000 screens, usually accompanied by the words, "Talent Associates Production" On Sunday night, Susskind's partner, Al Levy, the president of Talent Associates, will put his name as producer on a big show called "Hedda Hopper's Hollywood," a program that has already kicked up a bit of a fuss in the press.

Levy is such a silent partner in Talent Associates that a lot of people thought he had foundered like a lot of other TV pioneers. Not a bit of it.

"I haven't produced in quite a while and actually I'm not overly enthusiastic about producing. But this show is going to be a little different from the usual shows about Hollywood. We're not going to have Gene Kelly dancing up stairways. We're doing about 90 per cent of the show on location. I've known Hedda about 18 years. I met her because we worked in the same building in Hollywood and went up and down in the elevator together. I thought she'd be the logical one to do a show of this sort. She's been there a while and she's seen the place change.

"I'm not as excited about production as David. It's hard work. I don't get my kicks being around performers and studios. I get them right there," Levy beamed at a picture of his wife. "I'm sort of a home man. Another thing I'm not terribly interested in is the press."

This attitude clashes sharply with that of Susskind who is very happy or unhappy with what the press says about his shows. Levy says: "As long as we end up the year with a happy buck, it's okay with me."

Levy claims he was Frank Sinatra's manager when Sinatra started. Later he discovered Doris Day (who has more discoverers than America) in a trailer camp. "They threw me out," he explained simply, "because they decided they could get along without me. I was knocking around when television happened to start and I started with it."

★ ★ ★

Talent Associates has produced such outstanding series as Philco Playhouse, probably the most memorable dramatic series TV ever had, and "Mr. Peepers," one of its better comedy series. The outfit has had as many as five shows a week going. This year it will do over 100 hours, almost all of it such specials as "Oliver Twist," "The Philadelphia Story," "Miracle on 34th Street," and so forth.

Levy admitted that redoing old movies—an idea that has got a very good press—was his idea, not Susskind's. "I felt it was a good idea to take the finest pictures the movies ever made and get the use of past publicity and good stories," he says defiantly.

What about the coming year? "We must try to do our very best. The minute we do less than our best, we get our heads handed to us. David is everybody's prime target. I feel badly when we sell an idea that's mine and has his name put to it, and it doesn't come out well. You see, although I'm president of Talent Associates, David is everything else. He's bright and he makes pretty nearly everything he says stick."

As to "Hedda Hopper's Hollywood," which has already received much angry publicity, chiefly devoted to recriminations between Ed Sullivan and Miss Hopper, he says only: "We're telling the story of a town and an industry, and the people who make up this town and industry."

Hollywood Today

Jean Arthur Awaits Call

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Jean Arthur, who has been in retirement since she filmed "Shane" with Alan Ladd, Brandon de Wilde and Jack Palance, informed Jackie Squires, daughter of the late actor Ronald Squires: "I will come back to Hollywood whenever George Stevens (ace director) has a story for me." It would be nice to have Jean, who has lived in Carmel, northern California since her retirement, back in pictures.

★ ★ ★

Joan Crawford's ex-mate, Phil Terry, lost every cent he had, about $120,000, when the forest fire in the Santa Lucia mountains destroyed his resort area. Phil is busy with television—a recent "Lassie" had him driving the canine and the kids off his land. And he hasn't slept well since the fire.

★ ★ ★

Lee Bowman with 39 "Miami Undercover" segments to film at Desilu, is giving up his house at New Canaan, Conn., to live in Hollywood at least for a year. Lee was among the first of the movie actors to do television—the Ford show, with Faye Emerson in 1951.

★ ★ ★

Prize-fighter Rocky Graziano, who plays a bistro owner with the Bowman series, says he likes acting, "as long as I don't have too many lines to learn. I've been acting in the ring for a long time."

★ ★ ★

Frank Sinatra gifted comedian Mort Sahl with radio transistors hidden in the stems of Mort's eyeglasses. Trust Sinatra to come up with something new . . . but if he guests again with Dean Martin, Peter Lawford or Bing Crosby, or anyone else, I'm going to scream or turn off my TV set. They're all overdoing it.

★ ★ ★

Look for a revival of the Leslie Howard type of gentlemanly actor on the screen. They've been overworking the tough, rough type, and fans want a change.

★ ★ ★

No wonder Paul Newman has that relaxed look in private life. A few years ago, Paul inherited millions from the sporting goods store run by his family in Cleveland.

★ ★ ★

Jack Hawkins in those battle scenes in "Ben-Hur" wears a hundred pounds of armor. Says it's a great way to reduce. Boy, get me my armor.

★ ★ ★

Kim Novak, Elaine Stewart, Fay Spain and quite a few movie personalities who posed in scanty attire at the start of their careers—we used to call it severe cheesecake—are now being embarrassed by the same revealing photographs turning up in those magazines for men.

★ ★ ★

According to original baby doll star Carroll Baker, she is not tough to get along with, as reported by co-workers. "I just can't joke on the set, and be a barrel of fun, and also concentrate on my performance. It's either one thing or the other, and I'm paid to be an actress. If you call that being unco-operative, then I am."

Railroads Howl

Labor Replies

'Who's Getting Rich?' Union Asks

(Last of three articles)

By ROGER GREENE

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Who's getting rich?"

That's the challenge raised by the railroad unions when the industry sets up a howl about engineers and firemen getting four or five days' pay for a day's work.

The industry, for example, says a typical case is the 1,034-mile run between Chicago and Denver which a fast passenger train covers in 16½ hours.

Since pay is based on a long-established rule of a day's basic pay for each 100 miles, the railroad has to pay 10⅓ days' pay for each engine crew position along the Chicago-Denver trip.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers says it investigated the following case history:

During the first half of July, 1958, engineer M. F. White drove the Burlington Zephyr over the 162-mile stretch between Lincoln, Neb., and Creston, Iowa, on the Chicago-Denver run, averaging two hours, 51 minutes a trip. For this he received $32.11 a trip on the mileage-pay basis.

★ ★ ★

Work Rules Obsolete Industry Contends

★ ★ ★

In 15 days White spent 210½ hours on duty or laying over at the far terminal between trips, and he received $481.63, or $2.99 an hour for the total elapsed time he spent in service.

"Let's take another look at those figures," an industry spokesman replies.

"What the engineer actually got paid was $481.63 for 15 trips totalling 42¾ hours of work, or $11.26 an hour. That means he gets paid at the rate of $90.08 for an eight-hour work day or $450.40 for a 40-hour week. No wonder the railroads are taking a licking."

Union: "What about his layover time at the far terminal? And remember, he does not get paid for away-from-home expenses—hotel room and meals."

Commenting on the unions' observation that few if any railroad employees are "getting rich," the industry says one reason is the unions' own spread-the-work rules which set a limit on the number of miles train crews may work and hence restrict their earnings.

The industry says passenger-train engineers in the United States received an average salary of $10,000 a year in 1959, with a maximum of $14,000 a year. Firemen averaged $8,687.

But the unions, quoting government figures, say American railroad employees—excluding executives—averaged only $2.47 an hour.

Some union officials concede privately that mileage pay and some work rules are obsolete, based on conditions which prevailed half a century or so ago, and that both need a general overhauling.

But they insist that any revision must not result in the firing of thousands of employees.

The 100-mile formula for a day's basic pay—or "unit of work," as the unions prefer to call it—was born in the days when it took considerable hustle to drive a coal-burning locomotive 100 miles. It wasn't unusual, in those days, for a brawny fireman to shovel 10 to 12 tons of coal in a day's run.

Today, powerful oil-burning diesels zip over the tracks and the fireman, with no furnace to feed, serves chiefly as an extra lookout for possible danger.

Thus the railroads contend they are being forced to perpetuate jobs as outmoded as the chief tester in a buggy whip factory. They say it costs them $230,000,000 a year to provide "surplus" firemen in freight and yard service alone.

But the unions insist the fireman is just as important to railroad safety as the co-pilot of an airliner.

Western RED CEDAR Bevel SIDING

"Keystone" clear kiln dried siding is the finest available — a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

With its "grow-in" workability, weather resistance and lasting good looks, "Keystone" clear Western Red Cedar Siding has long been recognized as the standard of quality home construction.

It has a distinctive "shadow line" which enhances any architectural style in any setting, and is used to create a variety of interesting decorative effects on indoor surfaces as well as exterior.

5 GRADES

"CLEAR" Bevel SIDING

Siding of this grade is designed for use where perfection is demanded. It is well milled on face and edges making a smooth surface usable full length without waste 6" and wider siding is vertical grain (VG) for ⅔ the width or more from thick edge.

"A" Bevel SIDING

Siding of this grade is selected for use where exceptionally fine appearance is desired. It is usable full length without waste and may be mixed grain (MG).

"B" Bevel SIDING

Appearance closely approaching that of the higher grades is often achieved with siding of this grade which contains slightly more characteristics and some cutouts in longer pieces. Craftsmen of even moderate skill find it easy to apply. It may be mixed grain (MG).

"RUSTIC" Bevel SIDING

Siding of this grade is recommended for use on sidewall coverings where the distinctive charm of rustic appearance is desired. Pieces are graded from the resawn or rough side which is exposed. Thick edge may be rough or surfaced.

"C" Bevel SIDING

Pieces of this grade have one or more characteristics which are such size or number that the piece is not of a higher grade. Lengths are random with no specified percentages.

142 WANTED TO BORROW

WOULD YOU BE INTERESTED in a proposition which requires a $15,000.00 investment for a period of 15 yrs which would guarantee you a net return of not less than 10% and possibly as high as 14%? At the end of 15 yrs you would own a half interest in a 30-suite apartment with approximate value of $250,000.00. Three minute walk from downtown. Choicest location imaginable. This is an ironclad proposition with the least amount of risk. Come in and discuss it. No obligations. It's an opportunity of a lifetime if you have this amount to invest. Office information only for obvious reasons; however, if you'd care to discuss in your home please call either Gordon Marshall or Roy Smith of Western Homes Ltd. Phone EV 2-2157 anytime.

Vul: Both	NORTH ♠K Q 8 6 4 ♡J 10 6 ◇5 4 ♣8 4 3
WEST ♠9 ♡K Q 7 5 3 ◇J 9 8 ♣Q 9 6 2	EAST ♠J 7 3 ♡A 9 8 4 2 ◇7 3 ♣K 10 7
	SOUTH (D) ♠A 10 5 2 ♡— ◇A K Q 10 6 2 ♣A J 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1◇	Pass	1♠	Pass
3♣	Pass	3♠	Pass
4♡	All Pass

Opening lead: ♠9

Today's hand was widely discussed, and when it achieved newspaper mention, the comment centred upon South's disastrous bid of four hearts. North had been hard-pressed to find his response to South's three-club force; he read South's heart bid as showing a genuine suit, probably in a hand with 5-4-4 distribution, and he gratefully accepted what he considered a chance to pass.

Declarer won the spade lead, cashed two top diamonds and tried to ruff a third diamond with dummy's heart ten. East overruffed and put back a heart, and the defenders mercilessly extracted the rest of dummy's trumps. The only other trick South could win was the club ace—giving him four in all. The opponents chalked up 600 points, but actually gained from 1370 to 2210 more since South could make six diamonds, and North could wheel home seven spades.

South was not unjustified in bleating that North shouldn't have passed four hearts. With the 4-5-4 distribution North visualized, the orderly sequence of South's bids would be one diamond, three hearts, and finally four clubs. But South shouldn't have bid four hearts for the very reason that it risked what actually came to pass. (If that's a pun, it's strictly intentional.)

The trouble lay in South's inability to show the strength of his hand after opening with a mere one diamond. True, South has too many losers for "game in hand," especially in a minor. But he also too many winners—if North responds in spades or clubs—ever to show his full strength after opening one diamond. The solution, it seems to us, is to open two diamonds, and rebid three diamonds, if North bids two hearts or two no-trump, giving partner the right to pass the three-diamond bid if he has a complete bust.

Boyd Neel At Sidney

Dr. Boyd Neel, dean of the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto, will be guest conductor tonight when Victoria Symphony Orchestra performs at Sanscha Hall, Sidney, at 8.30 p.m.

Two suites, an overture and a complete symphony are included in the program, which opens with Elgar's "Cockaigne (In London Town)" overture, Op. 40. Tchaikowsky's "Mozartiana" Suite (Op. 61) follows.

Haydn's 97th Symphony (C Major) opens the second half of the concert, which concludes with Claude Debussy's "Printemps" suite.

'Almighty Provides'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Mae Prest, who said she does not believe in religion but wouldn't send her two children to school because "the Almighty provides," received a suspended sentence in police court here Wednesday.

Const. R. H. Faulkner said when he asked Mrs. Prest if her daughter was going to school she replied: "She goes to the high one."

Tolls Ruled Out For New Span

VANCOUVER (CP)—Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi said Tuesday tolls will not be charged on the $25,000,000 Port Mann Bridge currently under construction near New Westminster.

Tolls will not be charged on the Port Mann Bridge because the federal government is paying part of the cost. It will be part of the Trans-Canada Highway system.

Promise Kept By Khrushchev

CHICAGO (UPI) — A telephone call from Washington brought a bright "new world" yesterday to Paul Leonas and his wife, Elena.

It told them vexing red tape had been unsnarled and the son and daughter they left behind in Soviet satellite Lithuania 16 years ago may be reunited with them within a week.

For 15 years since they fled Lithuania ahead of the invading Red Army in 1944, the refugee couple fought a futile battle with Russian officials to win the youngsters' freedom.

Last fall they buttonholed Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in a Des Moines, Iowa, hotel lobby and begged for their children. Khrushchev told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to "take care of it," and Soviet authorities granted Regina and Tomas exit permits on Dec. 17.

Sentence Suspended

Actor Gets Off, Wife Stunned

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Seafaring actor Sterling Hayden got off with a suspended sentence on a contempt charge for taking his four children on a 10-month voyage to Tahiti in violation of a court order.

The 42-year-old actor breathed a sigh of relief after Superior Judge Emil Gumpert fined him $500 and sentenced him to five days in county jail but suspended both penalties.

Mrs. Hayden appeared to be stunned by Gumpert's decision.

"I can't believe it," she said.

"I am grateful," Hayden said simply.

Hayden still faces a hearing Jan. 25 on Mrs. Hayden's petition to regain custody of the children, Christian, 11, Thor, 10, Gretchen, 9, and Matthew, 7.

In handing down his decision Gumpert said, "This court is not blind to forces which control human behavior under emotionally-charged circumstances.

"The record in this case, and your admission in open court, disclose that you disregarded and violated a valid order of this court, the judge continued.

"Consequently, you are found in contempt, and it is the judgment of this court that for such contempt you will be confined in the county jail for a period of five days and pay a fine in the sum of $500."

Gumpert then referred to a plea of leniency by Hayden's lawyer, Grant B. Cooper.

Canadian Cast For 'Butterfly'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The opera "Madame Butterfly" with an all-Canadian cast will highlight the third annual Vancouver International Festival next summer.

Trombonist Guest Star At The Scene

Vancouver trombonist Ray Sikora, fresh from a tour and recording dates with the Les Elgart and Gerry Grey bands, will be guest artist at The Scene this weekend.

Sikora will appear Friday and Saturday nights along with Vancouver pianist Kenny Jacobs, and Victoria's Doug Peaker, bass, and Gerry Adamus, drums.

Albert Hall Next Stop For Canadian

VANCOUVER (CP) — A young Canadian baritone will make his debut at Royal Albert Hall in London Saturday, adding another of the world's great music halls to a list that grows longer for him every year.

He is Donald Bell, the son of a magistrate in suburban Burnaby.

Although his greatest successes have come in Europe, Bell's is not one of the cases of a Canadian musician having to go elsewhere for recognition. The Vancouver International Festival has tried repeatedly to book him.

Quebec Decides

Barrette To Follow Sauve Line

QUEBEC (CP) — Labor Minister Antonio Barrette, who once earned a few cents a day as a messenger boy, Thursday was named premier-designate of Quebec. (See also page 2.)

ANTONIO BARRETTE
... broke with Duplessis

He will be sworn in with members of his cabinet this morning.

OTTAWA PLEASED

Federal government circles Thursday welcomed the choice of Barrette.

Government sources said Mr. Barrette is expected to follow the conciliatory approach of the late Premier Paul Sauve.

As well, he is known as a strong political supporter of the federal Progressive Conservative Party. He has campaigned for the Conservatives in Quebec province during federal elections.

PARTY FOUNDER

Mr. Barrette, 60, a tall blue-eyed man who with the late Premier Duplessis was one of the founding members of the Union Nationale Party.

At a press conference yesterday he said he would first deal with the question of federal aid to universities — a matter which is about settled as a result of the spade work done by Mr. Sauve—and continue in the path set out by his predecessor in the complex field of federal-provincial relations.

TOP NEGOTIATOR

Political observers said that Mr. Barrette, who has a reputation as a gentleman and a top-notch labor mediator, would combine unique qualities in dealing with federal authorities on the main issues, which still separate Quebec's views from those of the other provinces in Canada.

FINE LIBRARY

Self-educated and well read — he has a remarkable personal library at his home in Joliette, 40 miles northeast of Montreal—Mr. Barrette speaks impeccable French and his English is described as "good."

He is well known in Ottawa. Prime Minister Diefenbaker has been at his home. Mr. Barrette himself has campaigned actively for the federal Progressive Conservatives.

TWIN SUPPORT

It was obvious to veteran observers the party has chosen a man who, because of his 15 years in the Union Nationale cabinet, would rally warm support from old-line elements. On the other hand his progressive outlook on social legislation and in labor matters would win over the young factions in the party.

1957 BREAK

Mr. Barrette broke with the late Mr. Duplessis in 1957 over labor policy matters.

This was the year the workers of Gaspe Copper Mines Limited, at Murdochville went on strike and workers at the huge Aluminum of Canada works at Arvida had walked out.

POLICE INTERVENED

Mr. Barrette had personally mediated a settlement at Arvida but he had not been able to touch the Murdochville conflict apparently because Mr. Duplessis, as attorney-general, had sent a detachment of provincial police there.

CHARLES WILLIS

Stamp Fund Milked For Fortune

NEW YORK (AP)—A mail clerk for a Wall Street brokerage firm, whose pay was $62 a week, was accused yesterday of stealing nearly $500,000 from his employer—through the stamp fund.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Willis' scheme worked this way:

Willis had charge of taking postage meters of his firm, White, Weld and Company, to the post office to have them pre-set for desired amounts of postage.

Willis would for example draw a $1,000 cheque on the firm, made out to the postmaster. But when he got to the post office he would have the machine set for $500 worth of postage and take the remaining $500 in regular stamps.

Later he sold the stamps at a 10-per-cent discount in the financial district.

Toronto Buys 50 Buses All Too Long

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Transit Commission has purchased 50 buses for $1,600,000 but found Wednesday it can't operate them because they are 40 feet long. The city and 12 suburbs prohibit buses over 35 feet.

Hollywood Plan

Vancouver Police For TV Thriller?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police commissioners here still are opposed to a United States telvision series based on Vancouver city police but they are going to meet a Hollywood producer to discuss the matter.

Commissioner D. M. Clark said some television police shows are "shocking." Commissioner J. D. Maitland said he would agree to the proposal "if it would serve any useful purpose."

Chief Needs More Men

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police Chief George Archer said Wednesday more policemen are needed to curb an increasing crime rate in murder, sex crimes and armed robberies.

Billions Surplus In U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower dramatically disclosed yesterday that his new budget will provide for a $4,200,000,000 surplus in the next fiscal year. Congressional leaders promptly geared to fight demands for tax cuts.

Surprising all but a handful of federal officials, the President told Congress in his State of the Union message (See Page 3) that the budget will call for government spending of $79,800,000,000 and income of $84,000,000,000 in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Too good to be true, said Democrats of the forecast.

U.S. Doubles Space Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower said the United States will almost double its spending on space efforts in fiscal 1961.

He reported that the Atlas, the nation's only combat-ready intercontinental missile, has exceeded accuracy expectations by averaging hits within two miles of its target at distances of more than 5,000 miles.

Lively Speculation

Will Pope Be 'Out' If Nikita Calls?

ROME (AP) — Amid lively speculation that Soviet Premier Khrushchev might visit Rome soon, the Roman Catholic Church today indicated there is little chance that the leader of world Communism may have a meeting with Pope John.

Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, secretary of the Vatican's Supreme Congregation of the Holy Office, of which the Pope himself is a prefect, strongly hinted today what the church's attitude would be.

In an address at a mass offered for the "church of silence" in Communist-dominated countries, he recalled that the late Pope Pius XI left the Vatican in 1937 and went to his summer home at Castel Gandolfo to avoid meeting Hitler.

The cardinal did not mention the Soviet leader, but the implication seemed clear that Pope John might take similar steps to avoid meeting Khrushchev.

Jews, Christians Urge:

Purge Tainted Nazis

BONN (AP) — Jewish leaders joined forces with a Church of England group and the mayor of West Berlin Thursday in demanding that all persons tainted with Nazism be thrown out of high places in West Germany. (See also Page 3.)

The Bild Zeitung, a Hamburg tabloid whose 3,000,000 circulation is the biggest in West Germany, published a front-page article bordered in black and red about an elderly Jew who had come into the office and said: "I'm afraid again."

The World Jewish Congress submitted to the foreign office here a 12-point memorandum demanding a purge of anyone tainted with Nazism.

The Church of England newspaper, which is unofficial but represents the views of many Anglican clergymen, wrote that no efforts by Bonn to stamp out anti-Semitism would reassure the world unless the government "is prepared to dismiss from its own ranks those who are known to have been active supporters of the Hitler regime."

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, a Socialist, told the city parliament there are many former followers of Hitler "in the high levels of the administration, justice, education and among the so-called voices of public opinion" in West Germany.

Even in the high schools it is largely up to the teachers as to whether the evils of the Nazi era are taught.

New Pact May Give Japan Veto Over U.S. Troop Use

TOKYO (UPI) — The new American-Japanese security treaty may give Japan veto power over use of U.S. combat troops or nuclear weapons here, informed Japanese sources said yesterday.

Floe Crumbles Under Scientists

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Evacuation was ordered yesterday of 29 civilian and military scientists after the small drifting Arctic ice floe where they were stationed began to crumble.

One plane was sent to the floe, about 400 miles north, west of Barrow, Alaska, to bring out the first group.

A Ladd air force base spokesman here said the camp, known as "Station Charley," is in no immediate danger.

Three University of Washington men from Seattle were reported on the floe. They were Dr. Kenneth Bennington, head of the scientific group, Dr. Daniel Hale and Donald Makela.

Maj. Phillip Peacock, public information officer for the 11th Air Division, said the men will be removed a few at a time over a period of a week.

The 13 military and 16 civilian scientists manning the station have been collecting meteorological and technical information on the Arctic.

Dr. Phil Church, executive director of the university's department of geology and meteorology, said at Seattle the floe is not nearly as thick as ice "islands" in the Arctic and was in danger constantly of breaking up.

Winter Slows B.C. Logging

VANCOUVER — Ice and snow conditions have forced a halt in 40 per cent of the logging and sawmill operations in the British Columbia coastal area.

Company officials said Wednesday 7,000 of the 12,000 men usually working in the woods at this ttime of the year have been laid off.

'Hags' Up in Arms

Sir Ian Runs

SIR IAN JACOBS
... in hiding

'Little Joke' Explosive

LONDON (AP) — The furtive gentleman is a retired lieutenant-general, splendid war record, afraid of nothing that comes in trousers.

He is Sir Ian Jacob, who gave up his job last week as director-general of the BBC.

He is furtive because in an unguarded moment of a farewell radio broadcast he said he believed the BBC was somewhat hag-ridden.

The reaction among the corporation's women employees was explosive. The general sensed immediately that he had stirred up something which couldn't be settled by summoning a few regiments from the reserve. So he retreated to his home in Suffolk.

Some of the girls consulted a dictionary and established that anyone being harassed by a hag is "being ridden by a malicious female sprite, an evil spirit, a demon or infernal being in female form."

FROSTY TONES

To ascertain whether the government-run TV-radio service is top-heavy with women, a telephone call was made to the BBC public relations department.

The department, it appeared, is manned largely by women. A lady explained in a frosty voice:

"The corporation employs 9,199 men and 6,273 hags."

Sir Ian was accepting telephone calls from men, and to one male caller he said:

LITTLE JOKE

"It was a little joke, a little idea put into my head by a light-hearted remark by my secretary. She reported that a number of women were waiting to consult me, and said with a sweet smile that I was being hag-ridden."

The argument may rage a little longer. But Sir Ian is out of it, secure in a safe redoubt. At 60 he is joining the board of a fertilizer firm—a masculine enterprise.

Steel Deal Charged To Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic national chairman Paul M. Butler charged Thursday that Vice-President Richard M. Nixon won a secret agreement from the steel companies to hold off any price increases until after the 1960 presidential election.

If Nixon is elected president, Butler said, "the sky's the limit" for any price increases.

He quoted from the Wall Street Journal's Tuesday edition to bear out his charge of a secret deal.

Fires Gobble $14,465,235

OTTAWA (CP) — Forest fires in Canada gobbled up an estimated $14,465,235 of wealth in 1958. It was the worst fire year on record.

A summary of losses was released Thursday by the department of northern affairs and national resources.

Several Rockets Probable

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia said Thursday night it will test a powerful new rocket, built to reach other planets, over the central Pacific within a few weeks. Officials asked that ships and planes keep out of the area where it will fall.

The rocket is expected to land in a target area roughly 1,000 miles east of the Marshall Islands U.S. nuclear testing grounds.

The Russians did not say how many rockets would be fired, but indicated there will be more than one.

SATELLITE

The rockets will be launched without their final stage—the stage that would become either a satellite or a spaceship reaching another planet.

Tass, official news agency, in a statement said the tests were for the purpose of developing "a more powerful rocket to launch heavy earth satellites and undertake space flights to planets of the solar system."

HIGH ACCURACY

"With a view to perfecting this rocket with a high accuracy of flight, test launchings without the last stage will be made within the coming months of 1960 into the central part of the Pacific Ocean, removed from places of intensive shipping, airlines and fisheries," the statement said.

The announcement said ships of the Soviet fleet will be sent to the target area to carry out necessary measurements, and the first launchings would be between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15. It added:

DON'T ENTER

"To ensure the safety of navigation and air traffic during the launchings of rockets into the central Pacific, Tass is authorized to announce that the government of the Soviet Union asks the governments of the nations whose ships or aircraft may find themselves during this period in the vicinity of the area where the rockets might fall to see that the authorities concerned instruct the ship masters and aircraft captains to refrain from entering the aquatorium area and airspace of the Pacific designated."

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The navy said last night that the missile impact area being reserved by Russia for space rocket tests comprises about 45,000 square miles in the south Pacific.

The navy said location of the impact area indicated the Russians planned to launch their rockets in Siberia.

Atom Test Petitions 'Pathetic'

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—Maj.-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, former adjutant-general of the Canadian Army, said Wednesday it was "pathetic to see large numbers of professors and students of leading Canadian universities signing petitions to plead the banning of nuclear tests and nuclear bombs.

"For none of these people seem willing to face the unpalatable fact that if we are to abolish the nuclear weapon we have got to substitute manpower for nuclear power in our defence strategy."

TORONTO (CP) — The nuclear disarmament committee at the University of Toronto said Wednesday night it regrets the federal government's decision to acquire nuclear weapons for RCAF jets in Europe.

Candidate: Wicks

'Boo Boo Of Year'

PORT ALBERNI — Officers of IWA local 1-85 yesterday claimed Labor Minister Lyle Wicks is top candidate for the "Biggest Boo Boo of the Year" award.

They were commenting, in a prepared statement, on a statement by Mr. Wicks that an increase in fatalities in the logging industry may be due to political manoeuvres in the IWA.

AXE TO GRIND

"This would lead one to believe that the minister has an axe to grind with organized labor in general and the IWA in particular," the statement continued.

"There is no doubt that Mr. Wicks is unhappy over the fact that he was not invited to the B.C. Federation of Labor convention or the IWA Regional Safety Conference. Recent press reports indicate that the decision to leave him at home was the correct one.

BEST PROGRAM

"Mr. Wick's alleged press release makes him top candidate for the Biggest Boo Boo of the year 1960. Nothing could be more undermining to what has become one of the best safety programs in North America—the envy of every forest products industry outside of B.C.

The safety director of IWA Regional Council Number 1, was a guest speaker at the recent National Safety Conference in Chicago. The policy of the Regional Council Number 1 of the IWA has always been to maintain the most efficient possible program of protection of life and limb.

"This policy has not changed and will not be changed despite the weird statements of the minister of labor.

"A person in Mr. Wick's position is able to discover, if he cares to take the time, that the majority of fatal accidents in 1959 occurred in small unorganized operations in outlying areas where it is practically impossible for the IWA to service the employees or maintain a union safety committee.

"Many of these same operations are seldom if ever visited from one year's end to the other by Workmen's Compensation Board safety inspectors and in many instances apparently don't even know the camp exists until after a fatal accident has occurred.

"The Port Alberni local of the IWA has an average monthly membership of 4,000 and covers the Alberni Inlet and the West Coast of Vancouver Island north to Brooks Peninsula. Active safety committees are maintained and the area is highly organized—1959 was our best year.

NO FATALITIES

"No fatalities were experienced in the mills. There were two fatalities in logging, both in small woods operations, one of which is a combined logging-mining operation. Accident frequency and severity rates are below all previous years. This alone should prove the fallacy of Mr. Wick's statement.

"Successful safety programs are a three-party proposition, involving union, management and government. Mr. Wicks, from his high office, can be of immeasurable assistance or of considerable hindrance in any industry safety program.

"Apparently for 1960 he has chosen to be a hindrance. His irresponsible statements should rest heavy on his conscience."

Labor Demand

Wicks Won't Quit 'No Sir!', He Says

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks yesterday refused to resign, as demanded Wednesday by the Victoria Labor Council because of his statements that increased industrial fatalities in 1959 were caused by a breakdown in the IWA safety program.

"It will be a poor day when I am not called upon to resign. No, I don't think I will. No sir," Mr. Wicks said.

He said the industrial death picture was "too tragic and too serious a thing to get into the realm of politics" and called upon all sides in the industry to get together and do something immediately to remedy the situation.

Mr. Wicks produced figures to show the increase was not mainly in the gyppo logging outfits of the interior as had been suggested.

In 1958, he said, there were 25 fatalities in the Vancouver Island and coastal logging areas including the Queen Charlottes and Fraser Valley as far as Hope.

Last year there were 50, he said.

In the rest of the province there were 20 in 1958 and 25 last year.

"This does not weaken my argument that the fact is the highest fatality rate is taking place in the area where there is the highest degree of safety management," he said.

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault yesterday charged that "Labor Minister Wicks' attempt to blame an increase in logging industry fatalities on the IWA is thoroughly unwarranted and unpardonable and without a shred of evidence.

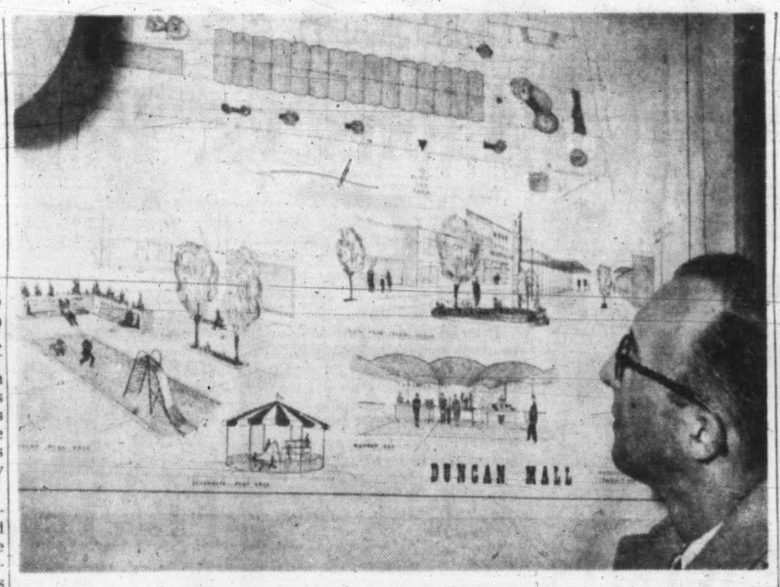

"The minister of the Crown has attempted to make political capital of the tragic deaths of 76 men in the logging industry. Such a charge made without authority is completely unworthy of a government minister," Mr. Perrault said.

Fresh Feed Daily For Island

Brackman-Ker Milling Company of New Westminster and Canadian Pacific Steamships Company have announced a joint program to provide fresh bulk feed daily from the mainland to Vancouver Island farmers.

The feed will be manufactured by the Brackman-Ker night shift. Two 12-ton trucks will provide the daily shuttle service from New Westminster to anywhere on Vancouver Island, travelling on CPR boats.

The trucks are equipped to haul either bulk or sacked feed, or a combined load of each. Loaded trucks will be delivered to the CPR ferry dock daily where empty trucks will be picked up and returned to the manufacturing plant.

Mall to Get a Trial Duncan Mayor Promises

DUNCAN—The city council will definitely see that there is a trial given to the establishment of a mall here, said Mayor Jack Dobson yesterday.

"I think the Rev. Brian Page hit right on the head Monday," he said. "But we won't sponsor any dance. That sort of thing's not up to us."

At the council's statutory meeting Rev. Page suggested the council should go ahead with the mall idea while Victoria is still thinking about it.

"We'll talk it over with the businessmen in that area, and give it a try for a couple of weeks," said the mayor.

The mall here was proposed by engineer Russell Potter who suggested it start with a street dance.

Cowichan Pioneer Dies in Vancouver

DUNCAN — Florence Sarah Kier, 93, daughter of one of this area's first pioneering families, died in Vancouver yesterday.

With her mother, Mrs. Alfred Monk, and her eight brothers and sisters, she came to the Cowichan Valley during the late 1860's and homesteaded when Indians here outnumbered the non-Indians more than 100 to one.

Funeral services will be held in St. Edward's Catholic Church Monday at 10 a.m. Burial will be in the family plot in Mountain View cemetery, Somenos.

Mrs. Kier was born in England, but educated and raised here, where she lived for more than 70 years. She died in St. Paul's Hospital at Vancouver, where she lived for the last 20 years. She was predeceased by her husband, George Albert Kier, in 1934.

Surviving are four sons, William, at Duncan, Basil and Sidney at Cowichan Lake, and James in Arizona; four daughters, Mrs. H. A. Black and Mrs. Frank Insley, both of Vancouver, Mrs. William Patrick of West Vancouver, and Mrs. Henry Roberts, Calif., as well as many grandchildren.

Prayers will be said at the church Sunday, starting at 7.30 p.m.

NELSON (CP) — Royal Canadian Mounted Police have unearthed no leads in burning of the Blewett school Sunday in what school authorities believe was arson.

14-Day Jail Term Quashed In Impaired Driving Case

DUNCAN—County Court Judge L. A. Hanna quashed a 14-day jail sentence Wednesday which was hanging over a motorist convicted of a second charge of impaired driving.

The reversal was based on the conflicting evidence given by motorists who saw a truck being driven by James W. Auchinachie last August near his home on Gibbins Road.

Defence lawyer David Williams asked that the court strike from the record the conviction made in a lower court. Crown prosecutor was A. I. MacDonald.

'More Than Anything Else' Victoria Needs Auditorium, Says Mayor

An auditorium is needed "perhaps more than anything else" by Victoria to increase its visitor trade, Mayor Percy Scurrah said yesterday.

The mayor and most of the aldermen were guests of the Rotary Club at luncheon, a custom of the club at the beginning of the year.

In his opinion, Mayor Scurrah said, the future of Victoria lies in being a residential and tourist centre.

But to attract visitors despite increasing competition from all parts of the world, he said, "we must have increased facilities."

Modern auditoriums are being built in all parts of the continent, he noted, and "in order to have some definite figures, I am appointing a committee with the idea of obtaining recommendations on such things as location, size, cost, facilities—all the information necessary."

Premier Bennett has said the province will contribute toward the cost, he added—"If he would tell us how much, that would help us plan the financing."

Mayor Scurrah's other major topic was the need for off-street parking in downtown Victoria.

To him, he said, "it is absolutely essential that the downtown area be maintained in a healthy condition for shopping. . . . If the assessment decreases, there is only one place to put the (tax) load, on the home, and to me that is something that must be avoided at all costs."

He said the parking building proposed on View would provide "more than 1,000 extra parking spaces a day" and that if the owner of a parking lot "not too far away" could be persuaded to put up a similar building, off-street parking in that part of the downtown business district would be well taken care of.

Revenue from the building and extra revenue from parking meters at five cents for half an hour undoubtedly would take care of the cost of the building, he said, but legislation is being sought which would enable only downtown property to stand behind it in taxation if necessary.

New Wholesale Rate

Water Bill Boost Can Be Expected

More Income Needed For Sooke Lake Tunnel

Greater Victorians—particularly residents of Victoria city—can expect to see their water bills rise soon.

A new wholesale water rate to the Greater Victoria municipalities will be set by the Greater Victoria water board before the end of this month. Present rate is 10 cents a thousand gallons, and the rate for the coming year is expected to be set one or two cents higher to enable the board to start paying for a water tunnel from Sooke Lake to Goldstream and a reservoir on Mount Tolmie.

QUITE SURE

Mayor Percy Scurrah said yesterday he is "quite sure" the wholesale rate increase will be that much.

On top of the wholesale rate increase and the consequent rise in the municipalities' retail rates, the city water commissioner has been instructed to revise the city rates to boost a dwindling rate of return on the city's own waterworks operations.

BREAK EVEN

"If the rates are not revised, we may only break even next year," City Comptroller Dennis Young said in November.

The commissioner, City Engineer James Garnett, said yesterday he hopes to report to public works committee in about two weeks on proposed rate increases.

ONLY FIRST

This year's increases are expected to be only the first of several in the next few years. Capital outlays planned by the board may require the present wholesale rate to be nearly doubled by 1964, officials have estimated.

Hit by Car Little Girl Breaks Leg

Four-year-old Gwennyd Cambrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cambrey, 1185 Reynolds, was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital in Saanich fire department ambulance during the noon hour yesterday, after an accident near her home.

The child suffered a broken right leg when she ran from behind a parked car into the path of a vehicle driven by Alfred Henry Adrian, 3969 Cedar Hill Crossroad, police said.

Her condition at hospital was reported to be satisfactory.

Quake Felt 123 Miles From Here

Duncan Dogs Electrocuted

DUNCAN — The SPCA has taken a leaf out of its Victoria office's books and bought an electric device to kill off unwanted dogs as humanely as possible.

H. E. Orrick, SPCA inspector, said last night the "electrothanator" is the fourth to be bought by SPCA offices in British Columbia.

"It will be the most humane way known to science in destroying unwanted and unclaimed dogs," he said. "More efficient than the electric chair, it will destroy a dog instantly."

The machine will be brought into use this month.

NANAIMO — Logging companies using poisons to kill timber-boring teredos are also killing large numbers of edible fish and shellfish, Capt. W. Y. Higgs, chairman of the Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce fisheries committee, charged yesterday.

Capt. Higgs said in his annual report that some of the larger companies have permission from the fisheries department to spray sodium arsenate on stored logs in booming grounds.

However, he said, certain companies are using the same method in other places without official permission. The fisheries department is looking into the matter.

Capt. Higgs also charged that the "hill-billy attitude" of customs officers at Bedwell Harbor, on South Pender Island, is allowing large quantities of canned and fresh fish to be shipped to the United States although there is a limit on the amount of fish that can be legally taken out of the country.

"The serious aspect of the Bedwell Harbor customs clearing station is the lack of restraint the foreign visitors feel coming to and leaving this country."

PORT ALBERNI — Mrs. Agnes Taylor Rock, a pioneer resident of Bamfield, died in West Coast General Hospital Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Rock, born 76 years ago in Aberdeen, Scotland, lived at Bamfield since 1912. She leaves her widower, Cyril P. C. Rock; three daughters, Mrs. A. W. McMillan, Mrs. H. Gilfillan and Miss Mary Rock, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. in St. Alban's Anglican Church here. Rev. F. C. Austin will officiate. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Improved Holiday Scale

Victoria Police Ask 17 Per Cent Boost

'Nicest Present Ever'

A Christmas parcel in the form of an eight-pound nine-ounce baby boy was a little late for Dec. 25 yesterday, but born right on the dot for Ukrainian Christmas Day. Parents Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Onischuk, 4702 West Saanich, agreed "he is the nicest present ever." Mr. Onischuk's parents were both born in the Ukraine. —(Colonist photo.)

Seek Parity With Forces On Coast

Victoria city police are asking for a 17 per cent wage increase for all ranks and an improved holiday scale in contract negotiations just opened with the city's police commission, it was learned yesterday.

Their objective in both requests was described as parity with other police forces, particularly on the west coast.

The 17 per cent increase asked by policemen would add an estimated $70,000 to the present wage bill, slightly in excess of $400,000.

$408 A MONTH

At present a first-class constable in Victoria earns $408 a month; a sergeant, $453.

Comparative present figures for other municipalities, where available, are:

Vancouver, $451 and $511; New Westminster, $435 and $494; Esquimalt (with a combined police-fire department) $415 and $461; Saanich, $400 and $444; Oak Bay, $398 and $443. First-class constables in West Vancouver earn $420.

HOLIDAY ISSUE

On the holiday issue, the police union is asking for two weeks' holiday after from one to five years' service; three weeks from six to 15 years, and from 15 years on, four weeks.

At present, city police get two weeks' holiday for the first 10 years of service, and after that three weeks.

Representatives of the police union placed these and other contract requests before the commission this week, and negotiation meetings will follow.

B.C. Court of Appeal Sittings Open Monday

Sittings of the B.C. Court of Appeal will open Monday at 11 a.m. in the courthouse.

So far, 15 civil appeals are slated for hearing in the new term.

Nearly Ready

'Flying Fire Engine' Takes to Air Soon

World's largest "flying fire engine" will take to the air from the waters of Saanich Inlet on its maiden flight in about three weeks, an official of Fairey Aviation said yesterday.

Water tanks which will give the plane a 7,000-gallon forest fire extinguishing capacity are nearing completion at the company's Patricia Bay Airport plant.

The tanks will be installed into the world's largest flying boat—an ex-U.S. Navy Martin Mars, one of four purchased last year by Forest Industries Flying Tankers Ltd.

If evaluation tests of the first converted flying tanker are successful, the remaining three planes will be converted to form a fire-fighting fleet unique throughout the world.

Health Improving

Chant Won't Drop Out If Campbell Is Running

Public Works Minister Chant said yesterday he has no intion of dropping out of politics, "particularly when I see Campbell (Clive Campbell, former deputy minister of public works, who was fired by Mr. Chant) is running.

"It is interesting to note he has made up his mind, although it was not unexpected," Mr. Chant said.

"I will be right in there running," he added.

It has been speculated that Mr. Chant might not seek another term because of ill health. "I have been much better recently," he said yesterday.

If Mr. Campbell wins the Progressive Conservative nomination he seeks he will run in the Victoria riding against Mr. Chant.

DUNCAN — R. B. Green of Victoria was fined $10 yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of crashing a red light Monday at Trunk Road and the Trans-Canada Highway.

Bylaw Goes to Council

Ald. Wilson's Efforts Can't Curb Curfew

Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson tried in vain yesterday to convince the other two members of city council welfare committee that a proposed new curfew bylaw is "too nebulous" and "unworkable."

Aldermen M. H. Mooney and Elmer McEwen voted to send it to council in its present form, which is in line with the wording of the Municipal Act.

In one place it requires children under 16 to be in their homes after 9.30 p.m. and in another place refers to them not being on the streets without proper guardianship after that time.

The reference to their being off the streets, Ald. Wilson maintained, would enable a child to "hop into a coffee shop or onto a parking lot or second-hand car lot and flap his ears at the police and tell them to go sell their papers somewhere else."

But Ald. Mooney held that the law shouldn't be made too strict. He said it was workable in the present form, and if made more severe could be a hardship on youngsters outdoors for legitimate reasons. And Ald. McEwen claimed children today were "100 per cent" and "100 times" better than they were five years ago, and the bylaw was "perfectly all right."

Revision Nearly Complete Of Justice of Peace List

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday that revision of the list of justices of the peace in B.C. is virtually completed.

Some 300 justices of the peace are now active in their appointments, he said. Last previous revision was in 1923 and until it was revised recently the list contained 600 names.

Big Night Class Listing Finished by Weekend

Greater Victoria school board's all-time record night class enrolment of some 4,500 persons attending the 1959-60 series of courses will be complete by the end of this week, principal Allan Batey said yesterday.

"Our enrolment so far represents a 25 per cent increase over last year and surpasses our original expectations," Mr. Batey said.

A second term of about a dozen 10-week courses was started each night this week and final enrolment will not be known until the last class has held its first session, said the principal.

Courses starting this week include charm and modelling, driver training, gardening, leathercraft, copper tooling, photography, golf, nature study and handwriting analysis.

Quebec Decides

Barrette To Follow Sauve Line

ANTONIO BARRETTE
. . . broke with Duplessis

QUEBEC (CP) — Labor Minister Antonio Barrette, who once earned a few cents a day as a messenger boy, Thursday was named premier-designate of Quebec. (See also page 2.)

He will be sworn in with members of his cabinet this morning.

OTTAWA PLEASED

Federal government circles Thursday welcomed the choice of Barrette.

Government sources said Mr. Barrette is expected to follow the conciliatory approach of the late Premier Paul Sauve.

As well, he is known as a strong political supporter of the federal Progressive Conservative Party. He has campaigned for the Conservatives in Quebec province during federal elections.

PARTY FOUNDER

Mr. Barrette, 60, a tall blue-eyed man was, with the late Premier Duplessis, one of the founding members of the Union Nationale Party.

At a press conference yesterday he said he would first deal with the question of federal aid to universities — a matter which is about settled as a result of the spade work done by Mr. Sauve—and continue in the path set out by his predecessor in the complex field of federal-provincial relations.

TOP NEGOTIATOR

Political observers said that Mr. Barrette, who has a reputation as a gentleman and a top-notch labor mediator, would combine unique qualities in dealing with federal authorities on the main issues which still separate Quebec's views from those of the other provinces in Canada.

FINE LIBRARY

Self-educated and well read — he has a remarkable personal library at his home in Joliette, 40 miles northeast of Montreal—Mr. Barrette speaks impeccable French and his English is described as "good."

He is well known in Ottawa. Prime Minister Diefenbaker has been at his home. Mr. Barrette himself has campaigned actively for the federal Progressive Conservatives.

TWIN SUPPORT

It was obvious to veteran observers the party has chosen a man who, because of his 15 years in the Union Nationale cabinet, would rally warm support from old-line elements. On the other hand his progressive outlook on social legislation and in labor matters would win over the young factions in the party.

1957 BREAK

Mr. Barrette broke with the late Mr. Duplessis in 1957 over labor policy matters.

This was the year the workers of Gaspe Copper Mines Limited, at Murdochville went on strike and workers at the huge Aluminum of Canada works at Arvida had walked out.

POLICE INTERVENED

Mr. Barrette had personally mediated a settlement at Arvida but he had not been able to touch the Murdochville conflict apparently because Mr. Duplessis, as attorney-general, had sent a detachment of provincial police there.

Stamp Fund Milked For Fortune

NEW YORK (AP)—A mail clerk for a Wall Street brokerage firm, whose pay was $62 a week, was accused yesterday of stealing nearly $500,000 from his employer—through the stamp fund.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Charles A. Willis scheme worked this way:

Willis had charge of taking postage meters of his firm, White, Weld and Company, to the post office to have them pre-set for desired amounts of postage.

Willis would for example draw a $1,000 cheque on the firm, made out to the postmaster. But when he got to the post office he would have the machine set for $500 worth of postage and take the remaining $500 in regular stamps.

Later he sold the stamps at a 10-per-cent discount in the financial district.

Toronto Buys 50 Buses All Too Long

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Transit Commission has purchased 50 buses for $1,600,000 but found Wednesday it can't operate them because they are 40 feet long. The city and 12 suburbs prohibit buses over 35 feet.

Hollywood Plan

Vancouver Police For TV Thriller?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police commissioners here still are opposed to a United States television series based on Vancouver city police but they are going to meet a Hollywood producer to discuss the matter.

Commissioner D. M. Clark said some television police shows are "shocking." Commissioner J. D. Maitland said he would agree to the proposal "if it would serve any useful purpose."

Chief Needs More Men

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police Chief George Archer said Wednesday more policemen are needed to curb an increasing crime rate in murder, sex crimes and armed robberies.

Billions Surplus In U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Eisenhower dramatically disclosed yesterday that his new budget will provide for a $4,200,000,000 surplus in the next fiscal year. Congressional leaders promptly geared to fight demands for tax cuts.

Surprising all but a handful of federal officials, the President told Congress in his State of the Union message (See Page 3) that the budget will call for government spending of $79,800,000,000 and income of $84,000,000,000 in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Too good to be true, said Democrats of the forecast.

U.S. Doubles Space Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Eisenhower said the United States will almost double its spending on space efforts in fiscal 1961.

He reported that the Atlas, the nation's only combat-ready intercontinental missile, has exceeded accuracy expectations by averaging hits within two miles of its target at distances of more than 5,000 miles.

Lively Speculation

Will Pope Be 'Out' If Nikita Calls?

ROME (AP) — Amid lively speculation that Soviet Premier Khrushchev might visit Rome soon, the Roman Catholic Church yesterday hinted there is little chance that the leader of world Communism may have a meeting with Pope John.

Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, secretary of the Vatican's Supreme Congregation of the Holy Office, of which the Pope himself is a prefect, strongly hinted yesterday what the church's attitude would be.

In an address at a mass offered for the "church of silence" in Communist-dominated countries, he recalled that the late Pope Pius XI left the Vatican in 1937 and went to his summer home at Castel Gandolfo to avoid meeting Hitler.

The cardinal did not mention the Soviet leader, but the implication seemed clear that Pope John might take similar steps to avoid meeting Khrushchev.

'Little Joke' Explosive

LONDON (AP) — The furtive gentleman is a retired lieutenant-general, splendid war record, afraid of nothing that comes in trousers.

He is Sir Ian Jacob, who gave up his job last week as director-general of the BBC.

He is furtive because in an unguarded moment of a farewell radio broadcast he said he believed the BBC was somewhat hag-ridden.

The reaction among the corporation's women employees was explosive. The general sensed immediately that he had stirred up something which couldn't be settled by summoning a few regiments from the reserve. So he retreated to his home in Suffolk.

Some of the girls consulted a dictionary and established that anyone being harassed by a hag is "being ridden by a malicious female sprite, an evil spirit, a demon or infernal being in female form."

FROSTY TONES

To ascertain whether the government-run TV-radio service is top-heavy with women, a telephone call was made to the BBC public relations department.

The department, it appeared, is manned largely by women. A lady explained in a frosty voice:

"The corporation employs 9,199 men and 6,273 hags."

Sir Ian was accepting telephone calls from men, and to one male caller he said:

LITTLE JOKE

"It was a little joke, a little idea put into my head by a light-hearted remark by my secretary. She reported that a number of women were waiting to consult me, and said with a sweet smile that I was being hag-ridden."

The argument may rage a little longer. But Sir Ian is out of it, secure in a safe redoubt. At 60 he is joining the board of a fertilizer firm—a masculine enterprise.

Atom Test Petitions 'Pathetic'

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—Maj.-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, former adjutant-general of the Canadian Army, said Wednesday it was "pathetic to see large numbers of professors and students of leading Canadian universities signing petitions to plead the banning of nuclear tests and nuclear bombs.

"For none of these people seem willing to face the unpalatable fact that if we are to abolish the nuclear weapon we have got to substitute manpower for nuclear power in our defence strategy."

TORONTO (CP) — The nuclear disarmament committee at the University of Toronto said Wednesday night it regrets the federal government's decision to acquire nuclear weapons for RCAF jets in Europe.

Ocean Shot Coming

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia said Thursday night it will test a powerful new rocket, built to reach other planets, over the central Pacific within a few weeks. Officials asked that ships and planes keep out of the area where it will fall.

The rocket is expected to land in a target area roughly 1,000 miles east of the Marshall Islands U.S. nuclear testing grounds.

The Russians did not say how many rockets would be fired, but indicated there will be more than one.

SATELLITE

The rockets will be launched without their final stage—the stage that would become either a satellite or a spaceship reaching another planet.

Tass, official news agency, in a statement said the tests were for the purpose of developing "a more powerful rocket to launch heavy earth satellites and undertake space flights to planets of the solar system."

HIGH ACCURACY

"With a view to perfecting this rocket with a high accuracy of flight, its launchings without the last stage will be made within the coming months of 1960 into the central part of the Pacific Ocean, removed from places of intensive shipping, airlines and fisheries," the statement said.

The announcement said ships of the Soviet fleet will be sent to the target area to carry out necessary measurements, and the first launchings would be between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15. It added:

DON'T ENTER

"To ensure the safety of navigation and air traffic during the launchings of rockets into the central Pacific, Tass is authorized to announce that the government of the Soviet Union asks the governments of the nations whose ships or aircraft may find themselves during this period in the vicinity of the area where the rockets might fall to see that the authorities concerned instruct the ship masters and aircraft captains to refrain from entering the aquatorium area and airspace of the Pacific designated."

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The navy said last night that the missile impact area being reserved by Russia for space rocket tests comprises about 45,000 square miles in the south Pacific.

The navy said location of the impact area indicated the Russians planned to launch their rockets in Siberia.

Jews, Christians Urge:

Purge Tainted Nazis

BONN (AP) — Jewish leaders joined forces with a Church of England group and the mayor of West Berlin Thursday in demanding that all persons tainted with Nazism be thrown out of high places in West Germany. (See also Page 3.)

The Bild Zeitung, a Hamburg tabloid whose 3,000,000 circulation is the biggest in West Germany, published a front-page article bordered in black and red about an elderly Jew who had come into the office and said: "I'm afraid again."

The World Jewish Congress submitted to the foreign office here a 12-point memorandum demanding a purge of anyone tainted with Nazism.

The Church of England newspaper, which is unofficial but represents the views of many Anglican clergymen, wrote that no efforts by Bonn to stamp out anti-Semitism would reassure the world unless the government "is prepared to dismiss from its own ranks those who are known to have been active supporters of the Hitler regime."

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, a Socialist, told the city parliament there are many former followers of Hitler "in the high levels of the administration, justice, education and among the so-called voices of public opinion" in West Germany.

Even in the high schools it is largely up to the teachers as to whether the evils of the Nazi era are taught.

TOKYO (UPI) — The new American-Japanese security treaty may give Japan veto power over use of U.S. combat troops or nuclear weapons here, informed Japanese sources said yesterday.

Floe Crumbles Under Scientists

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) —Evacuation was ordered yesterday of 29 civilian and military scientists after the small drifting Arctic ice floe where they were stationed began to crumble.

One plane was sent to the floe, about 400 miles northwest of Barrow, Alaska, to bring out the first group.

A Ladd air force base spokesman here said the camp, known as "Station Charley," is in no immediate danger.

Three University of Washington men from Seattle were reported on the floe. They were Dr. Kenneth Bennington, head of the scientific group, Dr. Daniel Hale and Donald Makela.

Maj. Phillip Peacock, public information officer for the 11th Air Division, said the men will be removed a few at a time over a period of a week.

The 13 military and 16 civilian scientists manning the station have been collecting meteorological and technical information on the Arctic.

Dr. Phil Church, executive director of the university's department of geology and meteorology, said at Seattle the floe is not nearly as thick as ice "islands" in the Arctic and was in danger constantly of breaking up.

Winter Slows B.C. Logging

VANCOUVER — Ice and snow conditions have forced a halt in 40 per cent of the logging and sawmill operations in the British Columbia coastal area.

Company officials said Wednesday 7,000 of the 12,000 men usually working in the woods at this ttime of the year have been laid off.

Steel Deal Charged To Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic national chairman Paul M. Butler charged Thursday that Vice-President Richard M. Nixon won a secret agreement from the steel companies to hold off any price increases until after the 1960 presidential election.

If Nixon is elected president, Butler said, "the sky's the limit" for any price increases.

He quoted from the Wall Street Journal's Tuesday edition to bear out his charge of a secret deal.
